Schools begin cutbacks

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Action taken Monday by the Romulus school board to cutback on bus transportation, increase school starting times, and begin a 5-hour school day will save the school district about $1 million over the next two years.

All three changes will begin at the start of the second semester.

But, Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, director of personnel, was quick to emphasize to parents that there will be no interruption of bus service to students. The latest buses returning students home will leave 15 minutes later than the current 3 p.m. return time, he said.

By a 4-2 vote, the school board accepted Supt. William Bedell's recommendation to begin a 5-hour school day beginning with the second semester Feb. 2 in grades K-12.

Voting for the shortened school day were trustees Wayne Avery, Richard Campbell, Theresa Kraft and Emily Hopewell. Voting against were trustee Mike Woods and Joan Marviscin. Trustee Shirley Lombardi was absent due to illness.

An earlier motion to confine the shortened school day only to the secondary schools failed by an identical 4-2 margin, with the vote recorded in reverse order.

Dr. Bedell explained that the school district will save a total of $302,500 this year and $605,000 next year in teacher's salaries and benefits by going to the shorter day.

According to figures given the board, Dr. LeCesne, 64 of the 96 teachers receiving layoff notices in November will be kept on the payroll. Notices were sent in anticipation of changing from a 6-hour day to a 5-hour day, he said.

The school board granted unanimous approval to the superintendent's recommendation to cut 20 bus drivers and 20 school buses and increase school starting times from two to four for the remainder of this and next school year.

Dr. Bedell said the move will save the Romulus school district $108,000 this year and $234,000 next year, for a total of $342,000, in school bus drivers' salaries, fringes and bus maintenance.

The additional starting times will enable the use of the same buses, thereby cutting down on the total, Dr. Bedell explained.

Dr. LeCesne said the current 7:45 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. school starting times will be changed as follows: senior high school will begin at its usual 7:45 a.m. time; junior high schools will start at 8:30 a.m.; and elementary schools will begin at 9 a.m. and 9:45 a.m.

However, which schools will start at which time will be announced later, but prior to the start of the second semester, he said.

The $907,500 saved in teachers' salaries and benefits, plus the $342,000 saved in bus drivers' salaries, fringes and bus maintenance. (Continued on Page A-3)

Last week's edition of The Associated Newspapers carried a story about the expansion and remodeling of the medical offices of Dr. Masroor Ali at 265 Main St. in Belleville.

The story should not have stated that Mitchell Alfaro & Associates directed the development of Harper-Webber, Botsford and Beyer hospital in the area.

Instead, the story should have read Mitchell Alfaro & Associates is "a Detroit-based architectural-engineering firm whose professionals have directed the development of many medical facilities in the southeastern Michigan area."

Prior to forming his own firm, Mitchell Alfaro was project chief for a leading architectural firm who helped develop the hospital developments and others in the southeastern Michigan area.

City closer to cable TV decision

Officials plan to hire consultant to draft ordinance

The city of Romulus last week inched closer to its ultimate goal of obtaining cable television for its residents.

City Council voted to concur with its newly-appointed cable TV ordinance committee, which recommended the hiring of a consultant to aid in drafting a cable TV ordinance and in selecting a company to build a local system.

Council action calls for the committee to select one or more persons that it would in turn recommend to that body. Council also directed the city administration to determine where funds would come from to pay for the consultant and to bring its recommendation back at a later session.

Romulus has yet to draft a cable TV ordinance, a document that would regulate and control operations of the local system for the normal 15 years of a contract with the firm picked to construct it.

After the ordinance is drafted and approved, council will have to choose from among several companies which have made presentations on how they can best serve the community.

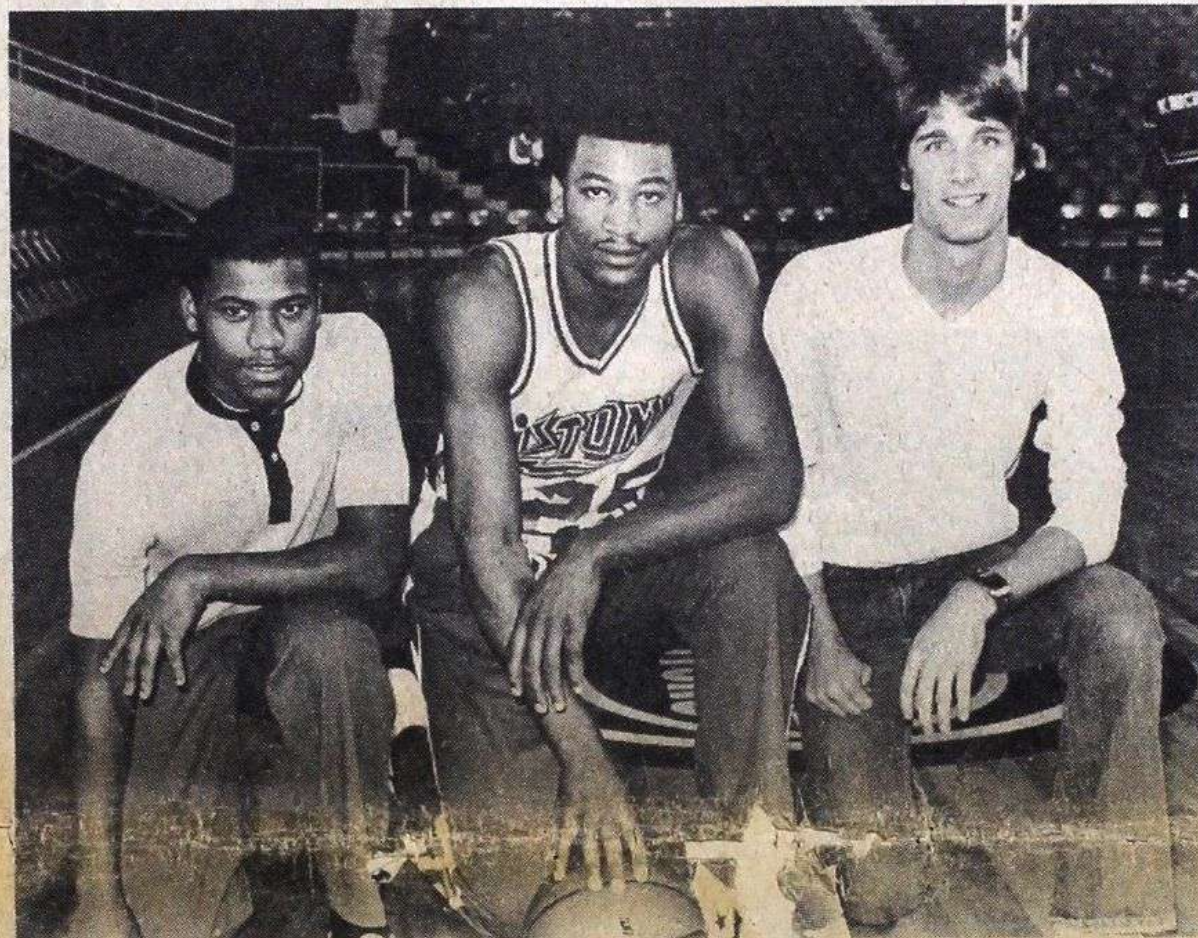

Among the firms is Comcast of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., which in recent weeks was chosen by both Van Buren and Sumpter townships to build a cable TV system in their areas. The Pennsylvania firm explained at presentations in those communities that it could offer cheaper monthly rates and additional services to residents of an over-all system that would incorporate several communities.

Omnicom of Michigan, a Plymouth-based cable television company, which has installed a system for the city of Plymouth and has franchises in Canton Township, Plymouth Township, the city of Northville, is also seeking the Romulus and Belleville franchises.

The request to hire a cable TV consultant was made by Romulus Supt. of Schools William Bedell, who served as a spokesman for the 13-member cable TV ordinance committee headed by Treasurer Beverly McAnally.

The Pro and the Preps

team captain. Romulus will tangle on Jan. 22 with Class B State Champion Willow Run. Game time is 5:20 and will precede the Piston-Chicago Bull game.

Romulus High cagers meet Willow Run in Silverdome

Everytime the Willow Run basketball team steps onto the court this season, every opponent they meet will be dying to beat them.

The Eagles of Romulus High are no different, and they will be out to avenge an earlier season 71-62 defeat inflicted by Willow Run when the two teams meet Jan. 22 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

The reason why everybody wants to beat the Flyers is simple. Coach Ron Tarrants' club is the defending Class B basketball champ and this year's team is off to a flying 4-0 start (as of 1-8-81) and in addition, is ranked No. 1 by several polls.

Willow Run is paced by 6-foot-6 senior Keith Jackson. Jackson is a jack-of-all trades. He plays center, forward and even brings the ball upcourt when he has to. He is one of the finest high school players in the state averaging 24.0 pts. per game and 15 rebounds. He has been contacted by over 200 schools about college and whoever gets him will have quite a catch. Jackson is complimented by 6-foot-2 senior Jeff Williams who crashes the boards at an average of 12.0 per game.

Down at Romulus, first-year head coach Al Wilkerson's troops are only 2-5. However, that isn't too bad considering that some of the setbacks have come at the hand of powers Detroit Catholic Central and Saginaw quintet that is picked by many to capture the Class A Championship.

Romulus is paced by a pair of junior guards, who in Wilkerson's words are among the best pair in the state. They are 5-foot-9 junior Bob Stewart and 5-foot-9 Troy

Williams. Stewart is averaging 21.0 points while Williams adds 11.0 ppg.

Romulus is a young and inexperienced team with 11 of the 13 players being juniors. Wilkerson hopes that the tough schedule will benefit his players later on in the season and give the team the necessary experience.

Game time is 5:20 p.m. Tickets can be purchased for $5.00. For two additional dollars, transportation will be provided through the schools in the form of buses. The buses will leave the respective schools between 3:45-4:00 p.m. and travel to the Silverdome. They will return to the schools following the Piston-Chicago Bulls game. The Pistons will attempt to even the series record against the Bulls, who are led by stars Artis Gilmore and Larry Kenon.

Rush concerned

Councilman may block new plant

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus councilman last week expressed concern over a Dearborn company's proposal to build a plant in the city that uses deadly chlorine gas.

Councilman Ed Rush's comments came during discussion on site plan approval granted Dec. 15, 1980 by the City Planning Commission to Hapley-Reitzel Inc. of Dearborn for a sodium hyperchlorite plant near Wabash and Northline roads. Council took no action last week.

Rush cited newspaper stories nationwide which recount instances where railroad and truck tank cars of chlorine gas and other dangerous materials rupture, causing residents of the immediate area to be evacuated.

Hapley-Reitzel wants to construct its plant on the south side of Wabash, just west of Northline Road, on a 3 1/2-acre site that is currently zoned M-2 heavy industrial.

The proposed plant, which would manufacture bleach for disinfecting swimming pools, purifying drinking water supplies or treating waste water, had a condition put on its site plan approval.

The Planning Commission, upon recommendation of B. David Sanders, city planner, stipulated that Hapley-Reitzel must obtain a permit from the Wayne County Air Pollution Control before the firm would be issued a city building permit.

Steve Henry, a member of the audience at last week's council meeting, questioned swift site plan approval for the sodium hyperchlorite plant without any public hearings.

He also questioned why Hapley-Reitzel got such fast action in view of the difficult time being experienced by Detroit Recovery Products of Detroit, the company proposing to build a sludge treatment plant in Romulus.

Currently, DetRo has filed two lawsuits against the city on two land parcels on which it wants to construct its plant.

Council Chairman Mary Ann Banks explained to Henry that since construction of the sodium hyperchlorite plant was permitted under M-2 zoning, no public hearings are required.

Last week, Sanders, who is contracted as the city planner from Christopher Wzaczyn & Associates of Birmingham and Detroit, said he sees, no problem with building the sodium hyperchlorite plant in the city.

Although he admitted that dangerous chlorine gas was a raw material that would be used in the manufacture of bleach, Sanders said such materials go through Romulus daily on railroad tank cars with no problems encountered. Chlorine gas would be shipped in tank cars to the Romulus plant on a spur siding.

He said a similar type plant in Livonia has had no difficulties in 12 years of operation. He also cited another such plant in Riverview and

GARY BINGAMEN

Despite a recession and double digit inflation, the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation has ended what its executive director calls "a successful year."

"We have had a good year, but as long as Wayne County and its municipalities continue to have fiscal problems and as long as the unemployment rate remains so high in Wayne County, we will not be satisfied," said Robert E. Fitz-Patrick, Executive Director of the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County (WCEDC). Fitz-Patrick's remarks were made to the EDC Board of Directors.

"The net result of our business assistance programs and activities is a large increase in tax revenues for the County and its municipalities and school districts, and the creation and retention of many jobs for Wayne County residents."

"I am pleased with the performance and accomplishments of our staff during the past year, but we are all prepared to contribute even more in the coming year to improving the economy of Wayne County."

Bingamen: 'We've been playing catch-up'

EDC is making 'significant progress'

The Chairman of the Board of the WCEDC, Gary Bingamen, of Romulus who is Executive Vice President of Morgan-Lentine Investment Company and President of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, offered these comments.

"There has been a great need for an organization like the WCEDC in Wayne County for many years," Bingamen said. "Unfortunately, we now have to play catch-up with other parts of the country."

"When you consider the fact that 1980 was our first full year of operation, we have made significant progress. This is reflected not only in the specific new programs implemented and projects initiated or completed, but also in the positive reception from the business community and local government officials. Many times I hear them say 'It's great to know an organization like the WCEDC exists.'"

The Vice Chairman of the Board, Michael Bohanon, of the Ford Motor Company, also expressed his satisfaction by stating: "It has been gratifying to participate in the progress which the WCEDC has made toward becoming the single-source center for technical and financial assistance to businesses wishing to expand or relocate in Wayne County."

The indicator of this success, EDC officials point out, has been the large number of inducements for revenue bonds and loans which the EDC has provided to finance the construction, expansion or renovation of industrial facilities, commercial centers, restaurants, office and medical buildings, and sports facilities.

In 1980, the EDC issued $8,475,000 in tax-free revenue bonds for six projects, creating 135 jobs and retaining an additional 108. The completion of these projects will bring an additional $315,370 in new taxes to the County, municipalities and school districts.

The remaining active projects of the EDC, however, will generate over 3,500 jobs and over $4,000,000 in new tax revenues upon their completion.

Another area of significant progress in 1980 for the Economic Development Corporation has been the creation and implementation of several new business assistance programs. Earlier in the year, the EDC was designated as the administering agency for the HUD 312 Commercial Loan Program in Wayne County.

The program provides 3 percent loans for up to 20 years for small businesses to finance rehabilitation and code improvements to their commercial buildings. Recently, the EDC was designated as a participant in the Michigan Neighborhood Business Revitalization Program (MNBR) which emphasizes the use of SBA-EDA direct and guaranteed loan programs to induce small and medium businesses to expand in Wayne County.

In conjunction with the MNBR Program, the EDC has added commercial loan packaging to the list of services available to businesses.

The Economic Development

Corporation has been in the process of implementing a formal Business Retention Program to methodically market the programs and services of the EDC to the existing businesses in the County to encourage them to expand their operations here.

Other marketing activities of the EDC included promoting Wayne County to delegates of the Republican National Convention through regional advertising and a booth at the convention center.

Throughout the year, the EDC of Wayne County has made significant progress on a number of other large projects. The first organizational meeting was held at the Metropolitan Growth and Development Corporation.

Through this entity, the EDC will be able to tap even more SBA Loan Programs and will have a broader capability to induce and coordinate large development projects.

The EDC has been proceeding carefully with the planning and implementation of a unique Senior Citizens Village proposed for the site of the former Wayne County Child Development Center. Also, the EDC remained actively involved in the administration of Economic Recovery Grants in the City of Hamtramck, and has been designated to assist in the provision of staff and support services in the preparation of an EDA-funded Auto Community Adjustment Plan for Wayne County.

In addition to Bingamen and Bohanon, the 11 member Board of Directors of the WCEDC includes: Joseph E. Stermer, President, Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Samuel I. Ajiri, President, Midwest Home Health Care, Inc.; H. Fred Campbell, President, Campbell Development Company; Leland B. Helms, Jr., President, National Bank of Wyandotte-Taylor; and Martha G. Scott, Wayne County Civil Service Commissioner.

Other members include: J. Ralph Wagner, Chairman of the Board, Dearborn Bank & Trust; Rebecca Barksdale, Director, Barksdale Funeral Home; Wilson C. Grier, Vice President, Art-Wil, Inc.; Edgar L. Harris, Wayne County Commissioner; and Maurice W. Roach, Director, Wayne County Planning Commission.

Braille volunteers are needed

Tri-County Braille Volunteers is a group formed from the volunteer transcribers from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The sponsoring organizations raise all the money to pay for the operation of the group: classes, teachers, some of the expensive braille paper, use of the Braillewriter, the thermomorphing of duplicate copies (as in the copies of the program guide for the print handicapped for the Detroit Radio Information Service), special personal requests such as greeting cards, menus for restaurants, diplomas, meeting schedules, programs and instruction sheets for companies, textbooks for school children and college students — any printed matter of use to the visually impaired.

Tri-County also operates a bindery, to put the finished pages into a bound volume. A textbook may become 10 to 30 volumes of braille. Included in the group of transcribers are specialists who not only transcribe literary braille, but also music, mathematics, and foreign languages.

Tri-County Braille Volunteers receives no funding from any source. (They are permitted only to accept donations, perhaps from corporations for whom they perform a service, such as a meeting format or instructional material.) Some of the schools provide the braille paper; however, everything else is done without charge.

Commissioners take oath of office

In Sumpter

State to accept bids for road construction

State Representatives Edward E. Mahalak announced today that the Department of Transportation will be taking bids in Lansing on January 21 for widening with the addition of three-foot paved shoulders on 4.4 miles of M-125 from the Ohio border to Erie Road in Erie; and Luna Pier Road between US-24 and M-125 in Erie Township.

The cost of the project is approximately $1 million, with construction completion date, October 1981.

Mahalak said that culvert replacement with approaches on Sherwood Road over one drain and two roads in Wayne County and on Arkona Road over two drains and one road in Sumpter Township is also scheduled for bids on January 21.

Completion date is October 1981 with an approximate cost of $300,000.

Methodists plan new church

$300,000 multi-purpose structure to replace old one

A roast beef dinner, whose proceeds will go toward construction of a new Community Methodist Church in Romulus, will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 17, at the Progressive Hall, Five Points.

According to Mrs. Joy Lamberson, lay leader, tickets for the dinner will cost $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 years of age and under.

Small children under five years old will be admitted free of charge, she said.

Currently, construction is in progress on the new $300,000 multi-purpose structure near the old church, Olive and Bibbons streets.

Completion is anticipated by the middle of this year, said Mrs. Lamberson.

The older and larger church building was heavily damaged by a fire about two years ago which officials suspect was the work of arsonists. The insurance company called the church a total loss, she said.

The new church building will be used for services, but also include dinners and other public and church functions, as well as for Sunday church services, said Mrs. Lamberson.

The old church, which served the community since the early 1900s, is being torn down in stages as construction is being performed on the new church structure.

She said funds to build the new church building will come from fund-raising projects like the roast beef dinner, insurance on the old church structure, the church building fund, and pledges by parishoners.

The Rev. Floyd Ellison is pastor of Community Methodist Church.

'Spring fling auto tour'

South Carolina delegation to play Romulus a visit

Belleville and Romulus will be among 16 Michigan communities visited next week by a group of volunteers from the Myrtle Beach, S.C. Area Chamber of Commerce in its annual "Spring Fling Auto Tour."

The South Carolina delegation is one of five carloads who are visiting areas in the United States whose residents patronize the famous Grand Strand, which stretches from the North Carolina border south to historic Georgetown.

"What our auto tour involves," said Asbhy Ward, chamber executive vice president, "is our residents spending their own money to visit towns around the country where people have a reputation for patronizing the Grand Strand."

On Monday, the South Carolina representatives will host a luncheon at noon at the Tin Lizzie in the banquet room. Several vacation trips to the Grand Strand will be given away to guests who attend, said Leona Van Buhler, executive secretary of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

In a short 15 years, the 60-mile Grand Strand has grown from a vacation spot for a handful of visitors each year to one that now welcomes close to 7 million persons.

The South Carolina group will bring promotional literature and free passes to hand out to local citizens in both Belleville and Romulus.

Grand Strand's resort area features 38,000 lodging units, 36 18-hole championship golf courses, 150 tennis courts, more than 400 restaurants and nightclubs, 12,000 camp sites, and a wide variety of family-oriented amusement places. According to Ward, the area's mild climate accounts for its popularity during any season of the year.

Ferrantino, Hunter named to waste management panel

Michael Ferrantino, owner and operator of the Wayne Disposal Company in Van Buren Township and Charles Hunter of Sumpter Township were two of 13 area persons named to the County-Wide Waste Management's Planning Advisory Committee.

The Wayne County Planning Commission has begun preparation of a County-wide Solid Waste Management Plan as required under terms of Act 641 approved by the Legislature and signed into law by Governor Milliken last summer.

In conjunction, the County Board of Commissioners has appointed a 13-member Planning Advisory Committee as specified by Act 641, and along with the Planning Commission has submitted a work program for approval of the State Department of Natural Resources.

To establish a data base, the Planning Commission is assembling and updating statistics on variety of land use, zoning and population patterns.

Act 641 provides that counties in Michigan will prepare five- and 20-year management systems for the disposal of solid waste in addition to controlling the licensing of vehicles used for transporting waste as well as the control of actual waste disposal sites.

In the planning process, each community evaluates the alternative methods of disposal available to the community.

When completed, the management plan must be approved by two-thirds of the municipalities within the County, and also by the Board of Commissioners and the Department of Natural Resources.

Other members, aside from Ferrantino and Hunter on the Planning Committee, are: Ray Kellas, Michigan Waste System; Virgil Eller, Central Wayne County Disposal Authority; Michael Ferrantino, Wayne Disposal Company; Robert K. Line, Browning-Ferris Industries; Francis P. Bennett, Member, Michigan Environmental Review Board; Liz Maury Dean, League of Women Voters; James Watts, Director, Department of Public Works; Clarence Young, Wayne County Board of Commissioners; Patrick Brunett, SEMCOG; Hershel Clover, UAW and George Tattire, Downriver Solid Study Group.

the manufacturer of liquified chlorine gas in downriver Wyandotte.

Sanders said he had been assured by the state Dept. of Natural Resources and the county Air Pollution Control that proper safeguards would be provided for the proposed Romulus plant.

David J. Paul, director of the city Dept. of Public Works, in a memorandum Dec. 12, 1980 to Hyle Carmichael, city industrial coordinator, pointed out several areas in which work would have to be performed before the sodium hyperchlorite could be built.

His memorandum stated: 1) Boring or tunneling of Wabash may be required to bring a 12 inch water main on Northline Road to the plant site; 2) boring or tunneling of Wabash may also be required to bring a 12" sanitary sewer from Northline to the plant site; 3) approval must be given by the state Dept. of Natural Resources for drainage into the Zink Drain, including construction of safeguards, from the proposed plant.

During the Planning Commission's discussion on the new plant prior to granting site plan approval, much of the talk focused on the "adverse effect that these chemicals would have on the groundwater and the neighbors."

salaries, benefits, and bus maintenance, will add up to a total reduction of $1,249,500 over the remainder of this and the next school year, said Dr. Bedell.

In making his recommendation to go to a 5-hour school day, the superintendent cited the following school districts with all or some portion of their enrollments on the same program: Allen Park, Crestwood, Lincoln Park, Livonia, Plymouth (9th grade), Redford Union, and Taylor.

Dr. Bedell said the Garden City school district had also been on a shortened school day, but had returned to a 6-hour day after voters there approved additional millage.

Also, he said, the Cherry Hill school district, although on a 6-hour school day, offers most of its students very large study halls and permits students to leave during the first and sixth hour.

Dr. Bedell said the Van Buren school district also is considering going to a shortened school day soon.

Council approves contracts for 2 new employees

Contracts for two new appointees named recently by Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley were approved last week by City Council.

Mrs. Patsy Cantrell was hired as the finance director at an annual salary of $22,000, with a provision that she be increased to $22,750 after six months if her performance warrants.

She served previously as a coordinator with the Wayne-Westland school district.

Joseph Hovorka of Taylor was hired as a deputy assessor at an annual salary of $16,500.

Both contracts will run concurrently with the mayor's term of office.

Mrs. Cantrell and Hovorka will not receive fringe benefits to which full-time city employees are entitled, including hospitalization insurance and the city's pension plan, according to the terms of the contract.

Appointment of Mrs. Cantrell as finance director, coupled with the loan of a second B-80 computer by the Burroughs Corp. is expected to give added leverage to the city's effort to straighten out its current financial dilemma and put it back on an even keel.

Both contracts may be terminated by either the employee or the city within two weeks.

Clawson, sponsored in training by Counselor Janet Gurzick of the Michigan Commission for the Blind at Detroit, is expected to complete the specialized training for blind and visually impaired persons in three months.

After completing a month of evaluation, she was admitted to the program. Her training will consist of learning to operate a switchboard by using a light probe and becoming acquainted with office procedure.

The switchboard/receptionist program is one of nine vocational courses offered at the rehabilitation center.

AEB is a Lions Club sponsored rehabilitation center for blind and visually impaired persons that has served more than 4,600 individuals from all 50 states and 52 other countries.

Police arrest duo in phony check-cashing scheme

Suspect's getaway vehicle smashes into school building

The last day of 1980 was one that will be well remembered by a Detroit man and woman who were arrested at a Romulus bank by police and charged with operating a check-cashing scheme.

Scheduled for arraignment today in 34th District Court in Romulus are Darnell Taylor, 27, and Angela Hardiman, 21, said Det. Ed Lindberg of the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept.

The two had been arraigned in District Court Jan. 2 on a charge of uttering and publishing, said Lindberg.

Conviction carries a penalty of up to 14 years in prison.

According to Lindberg and Det. Frank Burton's investigation, Taylor and Hardiman attempted to cash phony checks at the Wyandotte Savings Bank, 29501 Eureka Rd., on Dec. 31.

Taylor tried to cash a check on the K & K Trucking Co. of Wayne for $364.82, at the drive-in window from his car. Hardiman, about the same time, presented a check for $335.58 on the same trucking firm to an inside teller, he said.

Bank officials had been alerted to be on the lookout for checks on the trucking company. They called police.

Taylor fled in his car, 1 captured by police several miles away when his vehicle went out of control and smashed into a school building.

Hardiman ran on foot into a nearby field and was arrested a few minutes later hiding behind a nearby gasoline service station, said the detective.

Lindberg said both Taylor and Hardiman opened savings accounts at another branch of the banking chain, depositing small sums of money, receiving a passbook and identification card.

Later, checks on the K & K company began appearing at branch offices of the Wyandotte Savings Bank under false names and bank officials were told to be on the alert for anyone cashing checks on the trucking firm.

Lindberg explained that in September a quantity of blank checks were stolen from the trucking company in Wayne.

Police are investigating whether this was the first time that the two suspects had been involved in a check-cashing operation.

When the duo cashed checks, they told bank tellers they had a savings account with one of their branches and produced identification cards as proof, Lindberg said.

New! Checking Accounts with Interest

Until now, you've never had interest paid on your checking account. But on January 1, 1981, you'll have the chance to take advantage of a brand new service from Standard Federal Savings — checking accounts with interest. In addition to providing savings accounts which pay the highest rate available on insured savings, Standard Federal also offers the opportunity to earn the highest interest allowed on your checking account.

These accounts will earn 5 1/4% annual interest — continuously compounded — adding interest every month to your account for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. This is the highest interest allowed on checking accounts.

You may open an account in any amount. However, with a minimum balance of $500.00 OR an average daily balance of $1,000.00, you may write all the checks you wish, with no monthly service charge. (A $5.00 monthly fee is assessed if you go below the minimum or average requirements).

- Each month you'll receive a detailed statement of your account which lists your checks in numerical order, your deposits, any service charges assessed and the interest earned during the statement period.
- Personalized checks are printed free of charge if you choose not to have your checks returned with your monthly statement. There will be a charge for printing personalized checks if you wish to have your checks returned to you. With either option, you may select a style that provides a carbon copy of each check for your records.

- A permanent record of each check will be kept by Standard Federal Savings. If you need a copy for any reason, microfilm copies of as many as 25 checks per year (or all checks relating to an IRS audit) will be provided at no charge.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS 62 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER:

Customers 62 years of age and older who have direct deposit of social security or other retirement checks into any Standard Federal Savings account will pay no monthly service charge on their checking accounts.

RIGHT NOW — receive a gift FREE or at big savings just for opening a new checking account with $1,000.00 or more. Gifts are also available for opening or adding $1,000.00 or more to any Standard Federal savings account.

26-Week Money Market Certificate*

Minimum Balance $10,000.00

The interest rate is determined weekly and has three options for payment of interest; interest can be paid at maturity, or paid on the last day of each month and automatically transferred to a 5 1/2% regular savings account, or paid by check every month. Call (313) 643-9583 for the current rate.

2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate*

Minimum Balance $100.00

The interest rate is determined bi-weekly and compounded continuously giving the highest return available on these accounts. Call (313) 643-6855 for the current rates.

Non-negotiable Savings Certificate*

Minimum Balance $100,000.00

Terms range from 14 days to 5 years with interest rates quoted by Standard Federal Savings on a daily basis. Call (313) 643-9562 for current rates.

Retirement Savings Accounts*

IRA is a personal, tax-sheltered retirement savings program. It is available for any working person who is not currently participating in a private or government retirement plan. The Keogh Plan, a tax-sheltered retirement plan for self-employed individuals, is also available.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts and also prohibit the compounding of interest on 26-week money market certificates.
The rate established at the time these accounts are opened is the rate in effect for the full term of the certificate.

Ms. Rush is winner in Voice of Democracy contest

Democracy means a lot of things to a lot of people, and to Romulus students it has a deep commitment to perpetrate the ideas and ideals of freedom. And when the Romulus VFW Post 9568 staged its annual Voice of Democracy contest, the members learned that youngsters today are as enthusiastic to the ideals of democracy as they were back when the country was first founded.

VFW presented certificates to Tonia Rush, who was declared the winner; second place Pamela Kasenow and third place to Shanon L. Rhodes. Here is Ms. Rush's winning entry:

My Commitment To My Country
By TONIA RUSH

What is a commitment?
It is a two dimensional idea. The first dimension represents purpose and depth while the second represents sincerity and dedication. Looking at another human being's commitments, you can see their beliefs and values in a crystal clear perspective. What person would commit himself to something he did not believe in or have strong feelings for? What person would contradict his own thoughts? Therefore, given a human being's commitments, you are given his reason and purpose in life.

We have all made, and heard commitments being made. Some of our friends and associates often say, "I will go on a diet," or "I will stop smoking". Some politicians often say, "I will trim your taxes" or "I will lower inflation". These commitments are full of purpose and depth. They ring with good intention.

They sound beneficial, but without dedication and sincerity they are but words thrust out into the air. It is good to make a commitment, but it is better yet to fulfill it.

As a young American, I have grown to know the difference between two kinds of people. People that make commitments and people who march on a step further and fulfill them. This great American Country was built by the latter. It is this type I want to be. Therefore, my commitment is formed from the commitments of these extraordinary people. My commitment is wide, with one narrow objective - fulfillment! To capture and perfect the resources within myself that will benefit our country is my commitment.

This commitment will be carried out by taking advantage of opportunities that help me to obtain this purpose. The basis for such attainment will be intellectual growth, political participation, spiritual growth, community service, and economic advancement. By reaching this goal I will inspire future generations to commit themselves to the same priorities, while giving their best effort.

One of the strongest commitments I will have will be to reinforce and encourage the religious and moral values this country was founded on and for. I fear this country's religious and moral values have been declining for the past fifty years. The introduction of pornography, the sexual revolution, the free society where you do things only for yourself, the idea of church not being necessary, and atheism have all contributed to the moral decline of this country.

Employment survey set for area

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of January 19-23, 1981. Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States.

Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in November the survey indicated that of the 105.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.4 million were employed.

WCC elects officers

Officers are chairperson, Ann Kettles, Ypsilanti; vice-chairperson, Richard W. Bailey, Ann Arbor; secretary, James W. Anderson, Jr., Ann Arbor; and Treasurer, Richard L. Boyd, Saline. They will serve two year terms.

Vanzetti Hamilton, Ypsilanti, newly elected trustee and Anthony J. Procassini, Ann Arbor, reelected board member, were sworn in by Mrs. Kettles. Henry Landau of Ann Arbor completes the governing board of the College.

The many faces of children...

A sole companion

Sometimes a fella just has to get comfortable while listening to a story, so thought 2½-year-old Andy Stevens at a recent story hour at the Romulus Public Library. But then he discovered something he forgot was on the bottom on his fancy sneakers - a favorite cartoon character. The story hour continued around the youngster who tried to get a better look at his sole companion without giving up his relaxful position.

Very intent

It's always a treat to find out what all the squiggles on a page mean, especially when you're three years old like Erin Ogilbee. Erin is among preschoolers who attend a morning story hour at the Romulus Public Library. When ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko spied the youngster, she was very intent on hearing what the squiggles meant.

Konietzko

Oh no!

It's story time, so mums the word among preschoolers at the Romulus Public Library, who gathered for a holiday party and special story program last month. The story was so enthralling that 4-year-old Timmy Dusek had a hard time keeping his gum in place, and 3-year-old Kate Ogilbee appeared ready to spring forward and help the heroine, or was the hero? In any case, the youngsters' reactions to the program are a treasure in themselves.

Step high

It was cold—just a typical winter's day, so to speak—but the Scouts of Pack 821, Haggerty Elementary School, Belleville, didn't seem to mind. They love a parade, especially if they're a part of it. The Scouts were among the many marchers, musicians and floats that turned out to welcome Santa to the Belleville community prior to the Christmas holiday. But parade watcher Penny Sue Chipman, 1½, found the floats far more interesting than the youngsters.

Ford's No. 1 in truck sales

Ford dealers were the industry's truck sales champions in 1980, their fourth consecutive year in the number one position and the eighth year of leadership in the past eleven.

Philip E. Benton, Jr., Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, announced that Ford dealers delivered 794,520 trucks, 38,029 units ahead of Chevrolet.

"Ford dealers outsold Chevrolet dealers in every domestic truck segment in which they both compete — pick-up, bus, van, utility and medium-heavy," Mr. Benton said. "Deliveries of the Ford pick-up, traditionally the best-selling vehicle in the world, were 475,998."

Benton said that product superiority was the key to Ford's winning market performance.

"In a period when consumer demand is substantially below industry production capacity, the premium is increasingly on proven product value and that's always been our strength."

"Ford pick-up trucks are a generation ahead of the rest of the industry and the engineering advances translate into excellent fuel economy and innovative features. Our dealers offer the only unrestricted equipment six-cylinder truck with an EPAW city rating of 21 mpg and the only eight-cylinder pick-up available with the fuel-saving Automatic Overdrive transmission."

Dog Days

Have you purchased license tags?

The city of Romulus has scheduled the last three Saturdays of February 1981 for the inoculation of and sale of license tags for dogs belonging to residents, announced Treasurer Beverly McAnally.

On Feb. 14, 21 and 28, dog owners can come to the old fire hall on Goddard Road, east of Wayne Road, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. to have their dogs inoculated and to buy license tags, said the treasurer.

"A veterinarian will be on duty and the fees will remain the same as the last two years," she explained.

McAnally said that dog owners who take advantage of the three days will be able to meet the March 1, 1981 deadline for both inoculation and tags.

"These days are being set aside by the city to help ensure the safety of its citizens and to prevent dog owners from being ticketed during the dog canvass this coming spring," she said.

Dog owners discovered during the annual spring canvass as not having shots or tags for their pets will receive tickets and will face penalties, the treasurer said.

"There is no reason why local residents should not take advantage of this opportunity to have their dogs inoculated and to buy licenses for them, either for one, two or three years, said McAnally.

After March 1, in addition to fines imposed by the court, violators will have to pay a $1.50 penalty up to Dec. 1, 1981, she noted.

Dog license tags for neutered male and female dogs will cost $5 for one year, $9 for two years, and $13 for three years. Rates for neutered dogs are much cheaper, she said, running $1.50 for one year, $2.50 for two years, and $4 for three years.

"Senior citizens who own dogs will pay only one half of those amounts for tags for their pets," she explained.

McAnally said it was important that dog owners take care of this duty now.

"The cost of the shots will be cheaper than if owners took their pets to a private veterinarian," said the treasurer.

Council decides

Old legal fee to be paid

Explaining that there is "no reliable basis" for the city to defend itself, the city attorney for Romulus last week urged City Council to pay an old legal bill authorized in 1975 for former Mayor Terry Trout.

Charles Lowther said the city's payment of a $1,200 compromise settlement would save it another $1,200, plus interest and court costs.

In his memorandum to Mayor William M. Oakley and City Council, Lowther stated: "In the event that council chooses this alternative (not to pay costs), I would like some direction as to what reason the city may have for refusing to pay as I have searched very carefully and found no reliable basis upon which to establish our defense."

The city is being sued by Barris, Sott, Denn & Driker, the law firm which represented Trout and which was authorized by council resolution 75-482 on June 10, 1975.

The first suit by Stewart was filed against Trout after the mayor brought to the council's attention the fact that the councilman was not paying taxes on property he owned.

After council approved retention of legal counsel for Trout, he was defended by Barris, Sott, Denn & Driker. Over the years and during the subsequent term of office of Stewart after he became mayor, the bills stayed unpaid.

In his recommendation that council pay the compromise settlement of $1,200, Lowther stated the law firm's bill "is not unreasonable."

After discussion on the matter, council voted to direct Lowther to prepare a detailed breakdown of the legal fees owned to the law firm and to present it at the next meeting.

Bell offers ski reports

The Bell System now is offering daily telephone ski reports for major ski regions in the United States, including Michigan.

The new service, called Dial-It Ski Report, provides information on weather conditions, ski base and inches of snow on the ground, trail conditions, number of ski lifts and Nordic ski conditions, according to local Michigan Bell manager Haze Wilson.

The number for the Michigan-Indiana-Ohio region is 1-900-976-3740. Calls to the 55-second recordings cost 50 cents, plus tax.

Each ski report — produced by Phillip Camp Associates, Inc. of Woodstock, Vt. — is updated daily at 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., with a final wrap-up at 10 p.m. The reports will continue throughout the skiing season.

The same Dial-It "900" network used for the ski reports is used by the Bell System to provide Dial-It National Sports on 1-900-976-1313. The service also can be used for national straw polls, such as the one conducted following the Carter-Reagan presidential debate, Wilson said.

Coin-telephone or operator-assisted calls cannot be made to "900" numbers.

Joyner: 'Stop absentee vote abuse'

Wayne County Commissioner R. William Joyner of Plymouth (D-27th District) has requested board support of two resolutions this week that will: 1) Help stem abuses of absentee balloting, and 2) Provide Michigan retailers tax credits on bad debts and checks.

Joyner's proposals, referred to the county's Legislative Committee for further study, seek to develop corrective legislation that would allow sales tax credits of accounts written off as bad debts or bad checks.

"This type of legislation would have tremendous benefit and realize savings to Michigan retailers of over $2 million per year," he said. "Of the 45 states that have sales tax only 10 do not allow such credits. Michigan is one of them."

Presently, Michigan's handling allowance for sales tax collection only allows the retailer to receive as a reimbursement, a maximum amount of $2 dollars per month per store.

No other state, according to Joyner, has such a low, flat-fee handling allowance on tax collected, and the Michigan Merchants Council Legislative Advisory Committee is proposing a change in the law as 24 other states have done, to provide an allowance based on a percentage of the sales collected.

"The Council," he added, "is drafting legislation that proposes a two percent reimbursement of the tax collected. This would at least partially compensate the retailer for the costs incurred as a tax collector for the State."

Joyner's other resolution that would hopefully reduce the present use of the absentee ballot by unscrupulous politicians to control votes, will provide postage-free balloting to any and all who wish to vote by this method.

"Many small community elections are controlled by politicians soliciting and dumping huge packets of absentee ballots. Free postage will act to deter this," the commissioner asserted.

PLAQUE POINTERS

Plaque is probably the biggest cause of tooth decay and eventual loss. What is it - how do we acquire it - and how do we control it?

Plaque is the sticky, practically colorless film that builds continuously on the teeth. The main inhabitants of plaque are bacteria - one milligram of plaque can contain a half-billion bacteria. Bacteria ferment sugars in the mouth (why not to eat sweets), changing them to acids which then eat at tooth enamel. "Look, Ma - cavities!"

As the plaque creeps below the gum line, it mineralizes and becomes razor-sharp deposits of tartar which is the catalyst of periodontal (or gum) disease - by far, the major cause of tooth loss in adults.

Plaque must be removed daily by "proper" brushing and the use of dental floss. Have your dentist or hygienist show you how to do it properly.

The best way, if not the only way, to remove tartar and long-established plaque is to have a professional cleaning. But, remember, it will start to reform the very next day. The only one who can remove plaque regularly is you.

UHT Funeral Home

WHAT DOES THE TERM "HOSPICE" MEAN?

During medieval times, a hospice was a way station where travelers could rest and relax before continuing on their journey. In the late 19th century it became a term used to identify homes and hospital-like locations where Roman Catholic nuns cared for the dying.

Today the hospice has become a whole new thought-concept relating itself to the needs of the dying and terminally ill. Psychologist Robert Kastenbaum identifies this special concern as the latest development of the death-awareness movement. The hospice concept recognizes two cardinal needs of the dying: 1.) the need for relief from pain and 2.) a closer contact with loved ones.

With these two specific needs in mind, health-care professionals are now exploring alternative methods to care for the terminally ill, methods other than those normally provided in the traditional hospital setting.

The greatest attention is being given to that of home-care of the terminally ill. Special hospital units or teams of doctors, nurses and psychologists are working toward this special home-care technique.

It didn't get away

You hear a lot of stories from anglers about "the one that got away," however, Tony Kopas didn't let this mammoth 500-pound grooper fish escape as he pulled it out of the waters about 100 miles out of Tarpon

Springs in Florida. A retired and former owner of the Romulus Hardware Store, Kopas presently resides in Port Richie and, obviously, has a lot of time to tackle the big ones.

About drains

Council to hold special hearings

Residents of three drain districts in the west central portion of Romulus will soon receive letters from the city clerk's office informing them of how much the Wayne County Drain Commission will assess them individually for unclogging drains in their areas.

Romulus City Council at a public hearing last Tuesday directed Clerk Leonard J. Folmar to send the letters with information from the Drain Commission.

Council also indicated it would set up a special hearing at which Charles Youngblood, county drain commissioner, or his appointed representative would be present to answer questions and to explain the drain clearing operation.

Last week's public hearing was scheduled after the city's Dept. of Public Works received petitions requesting cleaning of drains from residents in the Post, Vealy and Barlow drain districts.

Residents in those areas had complained that clogged drains had resulted in flooding of their properties and homes. After the public hearing was set, the city sent letters to affected property owners informing them of the time and place.

According to Folmar, the cost of unplugging drains could range from a minimum of $7 to a maximum of $5,000 per property owner. Cost would depend upon the size of the property and the number of drain districts in which the property is located.

Under the drain commission's proposed plan, costs would be levied for cutting out trees and heavy bushes, removing spoiled dirt, and hauling it away for disposal at another site.

At last week's public hearing, some residents said they believed flooding was caused by an undersized drain tile under the C & O Railroad. However, the Drain Commission in previous correspondence with the city had stated the tile was of sufficient size to handle draining in the area.

Residents at the public hearing said they wanted to know more about what the Drain Commission planned to do and more exact costs. Council then directed the clerk to send that information to affected area residents after it was obtained from the county.

For two hundred years this country has been held together by its common belief in God. I think it is evident that since the religious and moral values have declined, our government has been falling apart, and losing its effectiveness. We clearly need to become a country with far stronger religious and moral values.

The last commitment I have that I want to talk about is the draft. Out of the duty and responsibility I feel toward my country, I am going to register for the draft as soon as I turn eighteen. I wish all young men and young women would feel this responsibility. After all, look at all the wonderful things they have received from this country.

If in case of an emergency I happen to be drafted,

I plan to go into the service happy and eager to serve my country. The service is an experience everyone needs to help them learn about life. All men and women need an experience like this to learn discipline and I hope they will apply this discipline in their lives.

I am an advocate of the draft. This country needs young men and young women for the backbone of the Armed Forces. If people will not enlist voluntarily, then the only alternative is the draft.

I think all the commitments I have mentioned are equally important. For the rest of my life I am going to abide by those commitments. If I am able to keep these, and I am sure I will, I know I will live a happy and full life in which I will truly feel needed and wanted.

Pets & Animals

All about caring for your dog

By STANLEY E. BARTKIEWICZ, D.V.M.
Bartz Animal Hospital

Dogs may begin into their first heat cycle as early as six months of age and continue having heat cycles usually once every six months thereafter. The first heat cycle may be delayed for a variety of reasons such as poor nutrition, inherited factors, or disease.

The heat cycle begins with a swollen vulva which usually remains swollen throughout the heat and slight bloody discharge.

Between 8 to 10 days after the beginning of the heat, the discharge may turn clear or yellowish or there may not be any visible discharge. At 12 to 14 days the bloody discharge may return then disappear again between 14 to 21 days.

Conception may take place at any time during the 21 day heat cycle. The most likely time for the female to conceive is between 10 to 14 days from the beginning of the heat. If puppies are not wanted, the female must be watched closely during her heat cycle to avoid breeding.

During a heat cycle, the female's scent will attract males from long distances. The males may dig under or hop over a fence to approach the female. Females are also known to try to leave their own yards or homes during this time.

If there are any male dogs in the same house, the two should be separated to avoid breeding, even if they are related.

A female dog will continue having heat cycles throughout her lifetime. The cycles may become farther and farther apart as she grows older and occasionally she may go through a silent heat in which she shows no external signs. Male dogs will still be attracted to her during this time and she may still be bred and able to conceive.

There are drugs that may be given to prevent a heat cycle, however, the only permanent method to keep your female out of heat and avoid unwanted pregnancies is to have her neutered.

Women car buyers change industry's image

AAA says: 'There are 64 million licensed women drivers'

Women represent a viable car-buying market, no longer to be ignored or talked down to, reports the January issue of Michigan Living-AAA Motor News.

In an article titled "What Every Woman Should Know About Buying a Car," Chrysler Corp. predicts that 40 percent of all cars purchased in the 1981 model year will be bought by women. Ford and General Motors estimate that women respectively make up 34 and 23 percent of their car-buying markets.

Auto dealers have discovered that "64 million licensed women drivers are impossible to ignore," according to the article.

Recent surveys show that women, when compared with men, are more conservative car buyers both in price and fuel economy. They are more likely to choose automatic transmission, power brakes and air conditioning as options.

Michigan Living points out that one-third of all married women have bought a car without advice from their husbands and that women change car makers more often than men.

More women also are taking advantage of adult education courses to familiarize themselves with the automobile and possible mechanical problems.

Michigan Living reminds women when buying a car that they are in the driver's seat. "Don't hesitate to 'try it on'... in other words, check it inside and out."

Here are 10 tips for new car buyers:

- Before shopping, check consumer magazines for insight into vehicles' repair records, size, fuel economy, handling and performance.

- Decide on the size car to meet your needs. If you have regular passengers, a four-door may be better. If the passengers are children, a two-door might be safer.
- Comparison shop at dealerships in convenient proximity to your home.
- If you aren't comfortable with a sales representative, ask to talk to another or go to a different dealer.

- Ask the salesperson about the dealership's service record. Inquire about hours, if loaner cars are available and don't be afraid to ask for references — customers who can back up the dealer's service claims.
- Check the warranty. Is it full or limited? Read it thoroughly.
- Make sure you get a disclosure statement which is required by law. It will tell the odometer reading at the time of transfer, name and address of the seller and the vehicle's identification information.
- Read the owner's manual thoroughly and follow the prescribed maintenance schedule.
- If you have problems after delivery return it to the dealer. Insist that the problem, no matter how minor, be taken care of immediately. Be persistent — if you don't care, the service department won't either.
- If persistence doesn't get results, complain to the manufacturer.

Calvary Christian unveils $200,000 expansion plan

The Calvary Christian Academy school board and the membership of Calvary Baptist Church have voted to "go ahead" with a plan to raise funds for a new gymnasium-physical education facility.

The expansion project would be realized by funds for the build "the shell" of a new gymnasium-physical education facility. This new building would also be used for concerts, plays, and other social functions. CCA is a ministry of Calvary Baptist Church and this building would be put to full use by other church ministries.

The first Phase is just to complete the outer shell of the building. The exterior would be a mixture of steel and brick construction. This will make the gymnasium very attractive on the outside.

The new building will be located next to Calvary Baptist Church on Ecorse Road in Ypsilanti.

The plan to finance the construction includes setting up a special bank account, which has already been established. This would hold the gifts and donations until March 31. That date is the deadline that has been established as a goal for financing Phase I.

If the $200,000 necessary to complete this project has not been collected by the above date — the monies would then be returned to the donors.

If you have any questions, you may contact Larry Campbell at 1007 Ecorse Road in Ypsilanti or call him at 313-485-2332.

JAMES A. BAKKEN

JA Fund drive chief appointed

James A. Bakken, Vice President Operations, Support Staff for Ford Motor Company is General Chairman for the 1981 Fund Drive for Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan.

He will coordinate activities of a team of 800 volunteers from business and industry throughout the seven-county area of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe, Livingston and St. Clair.

Goal for this year's Fund Drive which begins in February and will run through April is $800,000.

Builders elect president

The Board of Directors of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan today announced the recent election of Dave Pink as 1981 president.

In this role he will also serve as chairman of the 63rd annual Builders Home Flower Furniture Show, coming to Detroit's Cobo Hall March 14-22.

Pink, president of Dave Pink Builder, Inc., is a 20-year veteran of the home building industry. His Dearborn Heights, Mich., firm builds moderately priced single family houses and multi-family dwellings in the western suburban communities of Brownstown, Canton and Novi.

A native of Tel Aviv, Israel, Pink came to the U.S. in 1953. He started as a painter and laborer, advancing to construction superintendent before founding his own company in 1963. He has been a BASM member since 1963.

The Amateur photographer

How does this work, anyway?

We talked about a foolproof way to load film into your 35mm camera.

In order to get images on this film, we have to expose it properly.

In other words, a splash of light will strike the film and you as a photographer have to make sure the splash is not too big or too small.

Most modern cameras have a meter built into them. That is why you have to dial in the film speed. You are telling the meter in the camera how sensitive to light is the film you are using.

The meters in our cameras work very well. The Japanese have provided us with instruments that are usually very accurate. To fully utilize all of this accuracy it is necessary to go beyond matching needles or dials, or leaving the camera on automatic exposure all of the time.

You have to know how your meter views the world, so you can correct it's mistakes. (Some of you who do not know the difference between f-stops and shutter speeds may be shaking your heads now. Don't worry. You can understand how meters work.)

First you have to imagine the whitest of whites. Then you have to imagine the blackest of blacks. Finally, you have to imagine the tone that comes between white and black. In the black and white world of in-camera exposure meters this tone is called 18 percent reflectance, or "middle gray."

If you can't imagine what this looks like go to your camera store and buy one; it's called a "Kodak Neutral Test Card." Your meter assumes that most scenes you view through your camera have a variety of tones which, when averaged, make a middle gray.

For metering purposes there are two kinds of light: that which falls on the subject (incident) and that which is reflected by the subject (reflectance). Your camera's meter reads reflected light. Additionally, it reads the intensity of the reflected light. Most subjects have a variety of reflectances, for example, a woman clothed in a light colored blouse and dark slacks. She is out in the bright (incident) sunlight. Her blouse is reflecting most of the incident light thus it is very bright. Her slacks are absorbing most of the incident light, thus they are very dark.

The meter averages these two reflectances into middle gray and the film is properly exposed at a certain f-stop and shutter speed. Then we walk into the shade of a tree. The incident light is not as bright. The meter averages the reflected values and tells the camera to let in a bigger splash of light, via f-stops and shutter speeds, (probably about 8 times as much) so the film gets the same equivalent exposure it got out in the sunshine.

This system works fine, until we toss a totally white or totally black object in front of our viewfinder. Your exposure meter is too dumb to realize that the world is now, for example, very dark. It sees the object as middle gray and tells the camera to use a f-stop and a shutter speed to make it so on your film.

At this point you step in and re-assess your mastery over the technology. If you want black instead of middle gray, you have to "underexpose" by a f-stop or two, (the next largest number on the lens) depending on how black you want your subject. If you want white instead of middle gray you have to "overexpose" by a f-stop or two, (the next smallest number) depending on how white you want your subject. When in doubt, take more than one shot.

In a practical sense, the most useful application of your new knowledge is in avoiding what may be the number one error in metering among amateur photographers—backlighting.

Let's assume you are taking a portrait in front of a window during the day. First you meter the scene improperly and much of the brightness from the window is included. The meter makes this whiteness a middle gray and the face of your subject is underexposed. In fact, it looks like a silhouette. Realizing your error you then meter the scene properly. You move in and take a reading right off your subjects face. In this case your subjects complexion seems to be lighter than middle gray so you decide to open up one f-stop.

Your meter will work well about 90 percent of the time — if you usually photograph subjects with a variety of reflectances.

You have to interject your brain into the process if you want your exposure meter to work well 100 percent of the time.

Huron reigns Schoolcraft wrestling champions

If there have been any doubts among Class A mat fans in the area about the power of Class B teams, New Boston Huron's Chiefs have been removing them in recent tournaments in the area.

Following hard on the heels of their victory in the John Glenn Invitational, the Chiefs outscored their closest opponents by 85 points to take tops in field in the prestigious 11th Annual Schoolcraft College High School Wrestling Invitational.

Paving the yellow brick road with gold were heavyweight Joe Rice, Jerry Umin (105), Sam Farrugia (126), Mike Umin (132) and Steve Bokor (145). Andy Mosser, at 167, was the lone Huron silver medalist, while Wade Tackett (119) and Dave Melton (138) both brought in bronzes for their fourth place finishes.

Second place went to Fraser, whose cause was aided by two firsts, a second and a third place medal.

Wayne Memorial placed a surprisingly strong third, three points ahead of the Lakers of West Bloomfield. The Wolpack was paced by a silver medal performance by Paul Justice at 105, followed by third place finishes by Ron Pittman (132) and Jim Daniel (138).

Garden City West's Bob Zuener was the only other area wrestler to win a medal with a fourth place at 105 lbs.

In addition to taking first place, New Boston won the team most falls trophy for coach Tom Fritz, amassing a total of 26 falls. Wayne Memorial was second with 14, followed by Fraser's 12.

The individual trophy for most falls in least time was won by New Boston's heavyweight Rice, with 4 falls in 6:54.

Place medals were awarded through fourth, with place points awarded through sixth places. The three top teams received team trophies for their efforts.

Schmidt enters Air Force

Kevin J. Schmidt, son of Bernard Schmidt of Bedford, Ohio, and Ladda Schmidt, 9879 Van Buren, Belleville, enlisted in the U. S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Staff Sergeant Bernie Schmidt, 28233 Ford Rd., Garden City, Schmidt has been guaranteed training as a Security Specialist.

Schmidt added that the 1980 high school graduate will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Schmidt will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

In other Armed Services news, Marine Cpl. John P. Kelly II, son of Paul and Elaine Garcia of 19409 Inkster Road, Romulus, recently participated in training at the Marine Corps Mountain Warfare Training Center, Bridgeport, Calif.

He is a member of the 3rd Battalion, 7th Marines, based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

His unit conducted training in mountaineering skills, land navigation problems, patrolling techniques and field exercises.

A 1977 graduate of Lincoln Park High School, Kelly joined the Marine Corps in October 1977.

Marine Lance Cpl. Mark A. Chapman, son of Lloyd B. and Arbutus Chapman of 30864 Avondale, Romulus, recently deployed to the Western Pacific.

He is a member of Headquarters and Service Company, Battalion Landing Team 1-3, based at the Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

His company is part of the support element of the 31st Marine Amphibious Unit (MAU). The 31st MAU is the force-in-readiness for the 7th Fleet and is embarked aboard ships specially designed to transport combat troops.

Since departing Hawaii for the six-month deployment, his unit has participated in exercise "Valiant Blitz" in the Philippines. A combined amphibious landing exercise, "Valiant Blitz" involved 16 U.S. Navy ships, 5,000 U.S. Marines and forces from the Republic of the Philippines. The exercise provided the participating forces with experience in amphibious landing techniques and combined operations ashore.

During the remainder of the cruise, his unit will be participating in additional training exercises, and will have the opportunity to visit several Far Eastern countries during port calls.

A 1977 graduate of Cherry Hill High School, Chapman joined the Marine Corps in September 1978.

Airman Mark A. Passini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Passini of 28959 Grix Road, New Boston, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance training course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Passini will now serve at RAF Upper Heyford, England.

Private William C. Brown Jr., son of Mary Brown of 8701 Belleville Road, Belleville, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Private Lawrence G. Rains, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rains of 46695 Willis Road, Belleville, also recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Army Private Donald G. Dohane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dohane of 38051 Wick, Romulus, is attending basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Private Gregory D. Harper, son of Bobby C. Harper of Romulus, and Gaye B. Harper of Novi, recently received a parachutist badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the first week of training, students underwent a rigorous physical training program and received instruction in the theory of parachuting. The second week they received practical training by jumping from 34-foot and 250-foot towers. The final week included five staticline parachute jumps.

Private Tim J. Swirls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swirls of 28552 Sibley Road, Romulus, recently completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Private William L. Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Garrett of 18576 Huron River Drive, New Boston, recently completed a tracked-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course, students were trained to repair engines, transmissions, and the fuel, electrical and hydraulic systems of the Army's tracked vehicles. They also learned to perform recovery operations for abandoned, damaged, disabled or mired vehicles.

Airman Daniel M. Sheldrake, son of Elizabeth Sheldrake of 15675 Isabelle, Romulus, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft ground equipment course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to repair generators, gas turbines, and hydraulic pumping equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Sheldrake will now serve at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Private James D. Johnson, son of Naomi R. Johnson of 41635 Van Born W. Belleville, recently completed a Hercules fire control crewman course at the U.S. Army Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Texas.

During the course, students studied the missile and target tracking radar systems used in firing and controlling the Nike-Hercules guided missiles.

Mark S. Ford, 20, son of Beverly Ford, 29034 Lorman, Romulus, and Philip Ford, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Technical Sergeant Dave Archer, Ford has been guaranteed training as a Security Specialist. Archer added that the 1978 graduate of Belleville High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Ford will be assigned as a Security Specialist at an Air Force duty station.

Airman Jeffrey L. Jett, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Q.L. Allen of 20380 Wilmot, Belleville, had graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft pneumatic repair course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to repair aircraft pneumatic and hydraulic units, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Jett will now serve at RAF Fairford, England.

Private John M. Accord, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Accord of 7351 Kenwood, Romulus, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Army Reservist Leonard J. Tabaka (standing) has been promoted to lieutenant colonel. Here he discusses a training question with Sergeant Major Robert F. Russell, a member of the G-3 (operations and training) section of Headquarters, 300th Military Police Command

Tabaka promoted to Lt. Colonel

A former Belleville resident, Army Reservist Leonard J. Tabaka, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

A 1960 graduate of Belleville High, Tabaka earned a bachelor's degree in biology at Michigan State University (1964) and in 1975 he also obtained a master's degree in business administration for the same university.

In civilian life, the part-time soldier is an Amoco Oil Company territory manager. He is responsible for a three-county, 25-outlet area in Michigan's thumb region.

When on military duty, Tabaka is the Assistant Chief of Staff G-3 (operations and training officer) of the 300th Military Police Command (U.S. Army Reserve). Working at the 300th's Inkster headquarters, he supervises the planning and conduct of training for all of the 20 units and 1,600 part-time soldiers that make up the five-state command.

Tabaka's military career started in the Army R.O.T.C. program at Michigan State, from which he received his officer's commission upon graduation in 1964. He served on active duty as an air defense artillery officer at Ft. Bliss, Tex., in 1965-1967. He has been a member of the 300th since 1968.

He and his wife Sharon have two children, Christopher, 11, and Elizabeth, 8. The family attends Immanuel Lutheran Church in St. Clair, and the colonel belongs to the Rotary Club in the same city.

His mother, Mrs. Helen Caincross, resides at 6970 Marlowe in Belleville.

The wartime missions of the 300th's units — which are located in 13 cities of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Iowa — would include operation of prisoner-of-war camps and other military police functions.

Reservists hold down full-time civilian jobs, maintaining their military skills by attending two days of drill per month (usually one weekend) and two weeks of Annual Training each year (usually a summer camp at an Army post.)

Grassam Chiropractic Life Center

Dr. Grassam Says:

ACTIVE CHILDREN DESERVE CHIROPRACTIC PROTECTION

Children = Constant Change

The outstanding characteristic of young children is their constant change. Busy and eager, they are growing and developing continuously. Active bodies, hearty appetites, clear skins and bright eyes indicate a normal maturing process. They have so much to do, so much to learn about the world in which they live.

The world of the sick child, however, is restricted by his illness. Healthy activity wanes; eyes become dull; appetites decline.

How disease can start

Because a child is especially active, his body absorbs much stress each day. He may fall or be pushed or jolted. These forceful activities can produce spinal misalignments, which are called subluxations.

Disease and the spinal column

The spinal column is an important, and often overlooked, part of a child's growth and development. The spine is extremely vulnerable to abnormal development until the end of the rapid growth period (15 to 19 years), and is not completely developed until the young adult is approximately 25 years old.

The importance of correcting abnormalities early in childhood cannot be overemphasized. Too little attention is paid to traumatic incidences which could fixate and/or decrease normal movement of segments in the spine.

How your Chiropractor can help

Your doctor of chiropractic is trained to detect interference to the nervous system caused by misalignment or subluxation of the spine. He can determine whether your child has a subluxation and can correct it with spinal adjustments.

Chronic disease in adults often originates as a minor complaint in childhood. Many of these conditions can be prevented by your chiropractor.

Children make good chiropractic patients

Doctors of chiropractic find children especially good patients. They respond quickly to spinal adjustments and are delighted to learn adjustments are not uncomfortable. Parents are happy, too, when they see their child rapidly responding to treatment.

Proper diet, sufficient sleep, good posture and constructive exercise are important factors in proper growth and development. Our children's future depends on good health; protect it, accompany your children to your chiropractor regularly.

A Patient's Story:

I Had Pneumonia 13 times

I am asthmatic, and used to need six injections a week. I had to use the inhaler every day. If I played too hard, I'd have an asthma attack.

I had pneumonia 13 times, and several times a year my folks had to rush me to emergency.

Fortunately, my mom got a job working for Dr. Grassam, and she began bringing me in for adjustments. Now I hardly ever have an asthma attack, and I don't need any medication. I can play and do anything I want.

I only wish we hadn't waited so long!

Children May have a Spinal Defect Without Knowing it!

A spinal injury or defect which may occur may not have dramatic effects. It may occur subtly and grow worse with time. Children do not usually recognize subtle health problems, rather they learn to adapt and suffer in silence. As a result, many spinal defects are unknown both to parent and child. And to make the spinal defect even more mysterious, when the problem grows more serious and pain is felt, it often occurs in a part of the body not ordinarily associated with the spine.

Editorial opinions

Russell's decision is important to all

Sumpter Township treasurer Clarence Russell's decision to go back on his word is his prerogative. He said that if elected, he would not take the oath of office. However, Russell continues to serve as the township's key man in finance.

This is the man who admitted that he took $1,000 of the township's monies to pay off personal debts. An investigation of the missing monies ended abruptly when Russell confessed publicly that he took the money.

And now law enforcement officials have informed Russell that if he resigns no charges will be filed against him. Richard Padzieski, an assistant Wayne County Prosecutor, has presented the treasurer with a tempting alternative: "After reviewing the case, we have decided if he (Russell) resigns his position and doesn't run again, we will not proceed with a criminal warrant."

Russell should have learned his lesson from recent history. Even Richard Nixon knew it was better to step down than to face a chance of being impeached.

It is our opinion that Russell should leave office, now when the leaving is good.

Free enterprise system is sick, not dead

The ordinary American is confused and befuddled when it comes to understanding what has gone wrong with the American free enterprise system.

We are bombarded by bureaucracy, ivory tower university economists and elected officials, who all profess to have the answers when they don't even understand the questions.

The economic miseries of the United States in 1980 are easier to understand if the economy is likened to a foot race.

If 2 people were facing off for a running match and one of the runners had his ankles tied with a 2-ft. piece of rope, it wouldn't take a Phi Beta Kappa to reach the conclusion that it would be a poor risk to bet on the runner with the tied feet.

That's what we have done to the free enterprise system in the world economic race. We have put too many tethers on the runner in the form of laws, regulations and rules.

Many of the soothsayers claim the American free enterprise system is all washed up in spite of the fact that it has brought this nation and the people who live in this nation the highest standard of living recorded in history, with the most material goods, the shortest working hours and, up until recently, the most freedom.

The free enterprise system is working, but not as well as it could or as well as it did.

As a new administration takes over, as a new congress gets underway and as the Michigan legislature gears up, it would be a good idea if they all concentrated on cutting the bureaucratic ropes hindering the runner and let the free enterprise runner run the race.

Here's why I voted 'no'

By FRED WARMBIER
Wayne-Westland Community
School District Trustee

Thank you Joseph Doline for your kind remarks in support of my lone "NO" vote relative to the recent Wayne-Westland School administrators salary and fringe benefit increases. Being on the short end of a six to one vote does make one wonder whether or not he is on track and whether others agree with him.

Actually, there were many reasons why I voted as I did. I was not voting against any administrative salary adjustments. I had already supported other reasonable adjustments for many of our school district employees.

In my opinion, this particular salary and fringe benefit adjustment package as presented to the Board by Superintendent Tim Dyer was unclear, incomplete, had not been properly costed out, violated a previously approved salary schedule prepared by a paid consultant, appeared to be unfair to some administrators and other school employees, and was possibly excessive.

I believe it demonstrated a lack of sensitivity to persons and business in our community who are currently facing serious financial and job difficulties and to the state which also has serious financial difficulties.

For these and other reasons, I requested that the Board first seek outside help in evaluating Dr. Dyer's recommendations so that he and the Board would know for certain exactly what we were being asked to approve and what the present and future financial impact would be on the district. When my six colleagues voted to support the Superintendent's recommendation without this information, I felt that as on other occasions, I could not rubber stamp his recommendations.

According to my personal analysis, it appears that the first year salary and other cash benefit adjustments were averaging in excess of $6,800 per employee.

In addition, a Christmas gift list of other fringe benefit adjustments averaging over $3,600 per employee was being recommended. Taken together, this represented a total first year package in excess of $10,000 per employee. This is substantially more than adjustments granted our other employees, is the largest adjustment ever granted any employee group in my 12 years as a board trustee, and I believe it is excessive. I indicated that I would submit my analysis for proper review.

A little more than one month ago, our school superintendent and your school board asked that you reject three state reform tax proposals. These were defeated by a very narrow margin, implying citizen demand for reform. How soon some of our representatives forget! Our school district had to adopt a 1980-81 budget which severely restricts student school supplies, eliminates most school district repair and maintenance items, required program restrictions and employee lay-offs.

The State has already cut back school financial support and has indicated that further reductions can be expected.

State employees are being laid off or being required to take days off without pay in order to avoid additional lay-offs.

I believe we must also be practicing fiscal restraint.

Many of our employee fringe benefits adjustments, recommended by the superintendent for other employees, once approved by the board, automatically accrue to our superintendent under the terms of his contract. Perhaps this explains why some of our employees already enjoy more and better benefits than most taxpayers in our district.

I suggest Mr. Doline, that you contact our Superintendent and ask him for a list of all fringe benefits he and our employees have and what you now find yourself paying for.

It will give you some idea why your taxes have now increased, why they will continue to increase, and why we have been paying one of the highest school tax in the state.

It will also partially explain why some of our school needs are being shorted, neglected, or are unmet. We have already committed future taxpayers and boards to substantial costs which, without the infusion of additional funds, can only be met by reducing our educational program and/or the number of school employees.

As a result of the large taxpayer support for the tax reform programs in November, we are now hearing from our government and political leaders on new tax reform proposals. For many reformers, reform seems to mean to find some way to get more money from the already overburdened taxpayer without letting him know he is being skinned.

Fiscal restraint and responsibility, such as we should be practicing at this time, is seldom or ever suggested.

After serving 12 years as one of your school board trustees I have observed many well meaning administrators and school board trustees trying to serve the best interest of our children and community.

I do wonder at times just who is presently being served.

I believe that the time has come, in order for taxpayers to have some control over the expenditures of their state and local education tax dollars to seek the establishment of a State School Salary and Fringe Benefit Board. The purpose of such a board would be to establish, monitor, control, and determine equitable local salary and fringe benefits.

Presently, we are on a merry-go-round in which our children are always the first to be shorted. Part time well meaning, sometime controlled, sometime ill informed or uninformed elected school board trustees are often no match for the bureaucracy.

Mr. Doline, thank you for publicly expressing your concerns.

If more people would take time to express themselves, I am certain that we would have better government. I hope my comments will shed some light on the reasons for my negative vote. It is my opinion that the school board acted in haste. I could not support the recommendations of the Superintendent, some of which are self-serving and for which you and I will be paying for for many years to come.

The Other Side of the Meridian

On the Nazi story

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Nazis give me a nauseous feeling. I hated them back in the forties and I abhor them today. They stand for everything vile in civilization.

I remember Hitler's great victories — the dictator who couldn't be stopped; whose armies crushed and enslaved most of Europe, trampling and killing millions in their paths.

I saw Stalingrad — or what was left of it — after World War II. It was a wasteland. I was ashamed to think that men could destroy so sardonically as they can. I thought that the nightmare of World War II would never happen again.

So when I hear people like Inkster Councilman Ernest Hendricks chastising this newspaper for running stories about "those Nazis," labeling the recent articles "deplorable and unfit for human consumption," I can understand.

I can understand when Hendricks asks that "these people (Nazis) should not be given publicity, for they are bent on destruction of a people and a community."

"People ought to repudiate their (Nazi's) actions," Hendricks continues. "The mistake that they are making is that they think they have a base of support which they don't actually have. I think that these groups will eventually find that they are not wanted by the general public."

That may be true. But history has proven differently. When strong men turn their backs on a problem they are no longer strong.

"Peace in our time." Those of us who have been around will never forget Lowell Thomas's report from England on the arrival from Germany of Britain's Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain. Waving that piece of paper signed by Hitler, Chamberlain declared: "There will be peace in our time."

Soon afterwards the world erupted into a war that none of us have ever forgotten.

And now come these neo-Nazis. Most of them young. Open-mouthed babes who didn't sit in their classrooms to learn the infamy that totalitarian governments cause. Nazis who lament that the world's problems are caused by minorities, by Jews, by anyone that they feel it's proper to intimidate.

These are society's dropouts. They will never admit to themselves that the only reason they have banded together is because they are a bunch of losers. They are weak and hope to seduce others of their kind into their pack.

But because these derisive critics of our society are unmistakably in the minority, should we turn our backs on them? Let them grow? And one day, like those drunkards who left a Munich beer garden, become so powerful that we will have to destroy them, or be destroyed?

Grief comes from "appeasement." As long as there is a free press, we will confront those, fight those who would enslave others whom they consider "inferior."

It is unfortunate that we can't manufacture a time machine and transport these neo-Nazis back into time. And drop them off in Germany in about the year 1945.

A Meridian:

Prima donnas become vulnerable when they ask for more for themselves and give less to the people whom they serve.

Millage defeat hurts seniors

EDITOR — I am writing this letter due to a deep concern over the consequences of the millage coming before Westland residents. Times are tough for all of us but, can we afford to eliminate the life line of our senior citizens? If the February millage is defeated do the people in the community realize the consequences? My concern is with what will happen to our excellent existing Department of Aging, which for all intents and purposes will be eliminated as we know it today.

In case you are not aware, the existing department provides not only outstanding opportunity for participation in programs, but also serves as a referral service not only to seniors but to their families.

There are many times when we have a problem with our parents who are seniors and we really don't know where to turn for the answers. The Department of Aging has the answers or can tell where to get them.

We as children and grandchildren of seniors can not possibly provide the attention and care they so greatly need, Westland Department of Aging can. Not one of us is exempt from the aging process; it's time to lay the groundwork and prepare for our senior years.

Being an Activities Director in a nursing home, I see how much time seniors have on their hands, and our residents are in a large facility where much socialization can occur. Just imagine how much empty time will be on the hands of those out in the community if their programs are cut or eliminated. Even though we have many activities within our building, these people need community contact. If the Department of Aging is eliminated there will be no place for us to go.

I was in contact with many different senior agencies, trying to find programs for my people to become involved in. The agencies I called were not interested in letting us participate in their programs. They did not want to provide services for us at their sights because we were from a nursing home. Our residents are no different then seniors in the community, sure some are in wheelchairs, some are even hard to understand when they speak, but they have the same needs as other seniors. Apparently Westland's Department of Aging understood that, because only their staff welcomed us with open arms.

I resent the assumption that the Department is an unimportant frill. I am not exaggerating when I say these programs are a necessity for the physical and mental well being of seniors.

It is important that every Westland voter think twice before pulling the lever in February. Westland can be proud of their Department of Aging, it is the best in the state. They are an example to many other cities just starting their departments. Keep in mind there have been no millage increases since 1966. Could you live today on your income in 1966? This increase is strictly to maintain the existing programs, not to increase programs or staff.

In closing, if this millage is defeated not only will the present senior citizens of our community suffer but, also will we future seniors.

The investment of your tax dollar today will be an investment in your future.

We appreciate State-Wayne

EDITOR — I was very happy when the State-Wayne Theater opened its doors again to movie goers.

My two high school boys, my husband and I have gone to the State Wayne several times since it reopened, and we made a comment how nice it was to see so many families there, large and small. For once parents can take their kids to a movie every week without hurting their pockets too much. My boys go every week now, and I don't mind.

I find the management and their staff very classy; they treat all their patrons (that's us, folks!) with dignity, and you cannot find that in too many places. Not even the classy joints, and we have been in some of the better ones. KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK!

I used to be a teenager back in the late fifties. I remember doing the same thing that these teenagers are doing today and so did my husband. Why, on every Saturday it was a ritual for all us teens and pre-teens to go to the movies.

We have fond memories, think about it!

We are glad that our boys have a place to go on weekends at a reasonable cost, BUT KIDS DON'T ABUSE YOUR PRIVILEGE! It could be taken away from you very easily. Then what will you have? NOTHING! So be courteous and polite to the person next to you.

We do not enjoy the rowdiness so much now, and there is not much that can be done about it, so my husband and I go to the State-Wayne on a week night; it is a lot quieter and more enjoyable for us older folks.

Teacher defends open campus

EDITOR — Recently, several Franklin Junior High teachers signed a guest editorial that contained numerous glaring inaccuracies and untenable conclusions ("About civil rights of high school students").

First, the press is taken to task for "highly biased reporting," a charge clearly without foundation.

Reporters were only reporting a sequence of events that culminated in a lawsuit against the Wayne-Westland Community Schools to prevent illegal searches of vehicles on school property. Either the teachers don't know the meaning of "bias," or they are operating under their own set of biases.

The letter goes on to state, "For every right a student has, he also has a responsibility." Perhaps the signers should read the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment. No responsibilities are delineated; some have been defined by the Supreme Court. In fact, the High Court has ruled that civil liberties of students do not stop at the schoolhouse door.

The letter then refers to parking spaces for students as "not essential." Will these teachers contribute $2,000 of their salary each year for the purchase of additional buses? Do the signers suggest that students' lots be closed? Will they sign a waiver and allow their cars to be searched?

The teachers criticized my "open campus" proposal, stating that thirty minutes is not long enough for students to leave school and return for the next class. Had they bothered to inform themselves regarding my plan (submitted to the School Board last June), they would have discovered it called for a forty-five minute break, ample time to go home or walk to nearby fast food restaurants. Savings to taxpayers would have exceeded $50,000.

Of course, the signers could volunteer their services as lunchroom supervisors.

The letter writers conclude that an open campus "creates a situation that enhances the absence of responsibility." Isn't that beautiful syntax? Are these teachers suggesting that most students who now have open campus are irresponsible?

Do they want to raise the age of majority to 21? It is obvious that none of the teachers who signed the letter have ever taught high school students.

From the tone of their letter, the teachers need to take a refresher course in Political Science.

Van Buren firemen praised

EDITOR — Much is said by our news media about criminals, crime and social unrest, but I must compliment a very experienced group of young men — the Van Buren Fire and Police Department.

My house caught on fire Saturday evening, but due to an unknown citizen and neighbor who saw the fire while driving by, who made the call, who stood in the road directing the fire department — what can you say but "Thank You" — to a person(s) who got involved.

To the Van Buren Professional fire department who saved 3/4 of my house that I have worked night and day on to make it livable for the past 6 months, you are the most under rated civil servants demanded by the public.

We never know you exist until that time, but when that time arises I now am confident you'll get the job done.

And may I add, the citizens of Van Buren Township can sleep well at night knowing that we have as capable a crew of men anywhere in the state or county.

Thank you, Van Buren fire and police depts.

Heating vs. eating

EDITOR — We are being faced again with the winter season. This winter has been projected to be colder than normal. When winter hits, we naturally turn on our heating source. We must pay for using that heat to stay warm. Some people, like the elderly, pay with their lives.

The elderly live in houses that they own, free and clear. People think that since they have no mortgage payments they are living rather well. This has certainly been found to be untrue. An elderly person who is getting only $250 a month from Social Security may have to pay $150 a month for utilities. It leaves $100 for all other bills, including food, which leaves them to make a sad decision, heating or eating.

It is my job to help the elderly through these very long, cold, lonely months of winter. I need help in reaching these people.

Youth Services say thanks

EDITOR — The staff of Out Wayne County Youth Services Coalition, Inc. wishes to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude for the article which appeared in The Associated Newspapers.

The article targeted our foster parent needs and reassured our agency that the Associated Newspapers supports our ongoing programs.

It seems like a small thing to some people, but to us, it shows a willingness to open your heart and newspaper to the needs of the young people who are in our program. We can do little without this kind of media support.

On behalf of Out Wayne County Youth Services Coalition we want to say "thank you".

Kids seem to use wrong words at right time

BY JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I was having lunch with a few friends one day recently and since most of them were teachers the conversation got around to the funny things that kids say in all seriousness, and to their ability of using the wrong words in their descriptive phrases.

One of the teachers told how insulted one little boy had been when she had literally collapsed with laughter over one of his wrong word usage, and that took me back a long, long time ago when my beloved teacher had disillusioned me with her uncontrolled laughter over something I had said.

There was a family who lived down the road from us when I was about eleven years old, and they had a daughter, Sally Anne who was beautiful. At least I thought she was beautiful and I wanted to be exactly like her when I reached nineteen.

Sally Anne used rouge and the tiny little rouge pot on her dresser was the most exciting thing I had ever come across, and as I stood and watched her brush the red stuff over her cheeks, my fingers fairly itched to be able to dip into that pot and spread a little of the beautiful stuff on my cheeks.

Sally Anne marcelled her hair, and the day was a day of ecstasy for me when she would let me go upstairs with her to her room, watch her light the kerosene lamp and set the double marcelling iron in the chimney where the flames could heat it in minutes. I watched in awe when she touched her fingers to her tongue, and then touched the curling iron lightly.

If it sizzled it was ready to put the curl in her hair.

Sometimes Sally Anne allowed me to get her underwear from the dresser drawer, and my breath would catch in my throat as I lifted the frothy, lacy underthings from the good-smelling drawer and carried them into her. Sometimes she would let me help her into her dress, and sometimes she would even allow me to hide at the top of the stairs, my face pressed against the banister and watch her wriggle into her warm, furry coat which a young man was holding for her.

There were lots of young men holding Sally Anne's coat, and I would hug myself and breathe to myself that someday I would have dozens of young men holding my coat for me.

Sally Anne was my idol. When she walked down the street, I walked down right behind her, imitating the wriggle of her hips, the movement of her arms. Sally Anne laughed. I laughed, imitating the way she threw back her head and trying to imitate the sound of the laughter.

Sometimes I would stand for hours before the hallway mirror, practicing the tilt of the head, the slant of the eye, and the upward twist of the smile. I WANTED to be Sally Anne. I AIMED to be just like Sally Anne when I grew up.

One warm Saturday afternoon I was practicing licking my fingers and smoothing them over my mother's red prayer book from which she got her rosy cheeks, not paying any attention to the murmur of voices from below, when I heard the name Sally Anne coming through the hallway and up the stairs.

Sally Anne! They were talking about my idol. Throwing the prayer book into the dresser drawer I ran from the room, slithering quietly down the stairs, and tiptoed to the door of the living room. There my mother was entertaining several of her friends, and they were all laughing as my mother told them how I held Sally Anne up as my idol, mimicking her in every way, trying to laugh and to talk exactly like her. "Oh, Syb," laughed one of her closest friends. "I think you had better be careful, Sally Anne, is so promiscuous!"

They all laughed and my mother said something I didn't catch, but I wasn't concerned, for now I knew exactly what I wanted to be someday. Just like Sally Anne.

A few days later my beloved teacher, the teacher who had been my idol before Sally Anne had come into my life, asked us to draw a picture and write on a piece of paper what we wanted to be when we grew up.

I didn't know how to spell it nor to draw it. I raised my hand and she came to my side. I could hear the rustle of her skirt as she stood beside me, and the smell of apple blossom cologne almost made me forget Sally Anne.

"Well, what do you need?" she asked.

"I don't know how to spell it or draw it," I whispered.

"What is it you want to be?" she asked.

"Promiscuous," I answered.

That's when she collapsed in laughter. After she wiped the tears away she suggested I think about being something else.

I was almost grown up before I learned how to spell it.

Guest column

The 'Philadelphia Plan'

(A recent court decision in Cleveland requires that high school basketball teams in that city must be integrated by recruiting two white players for every team. Mr. Shanker uses this week's column and the Cleveland case to explore the controversial question of racial quotas. The Cleveland case serves as an excellent example of the unfairness of quota systems.)

By ALBERT SHANKER
President, United Federation of Teachers

Something has finally happened which may settle the issue of racial quotas once and for all. Some years ago the federal government imposed what came to be called the "Philadelphia Plan." Under it construction contracts which involved government funds had to guarantee that a particular percentage of the skilled building trades workers would be members of minority groups. The building trades unions and the labor movement in general were opposed. The unions argued that for the most part there were not enough minority group members who were qualified and that, instead of demanding instant results through quotas, the answer was in opening up apprenticeship training programs to increase the numbers of qualified minority workers. (One such program established by the Randolph Institute, the Recruitment and Training Program, has produced impressive results.)

But when the building trades were fighting the Philadelphia Plan, they got little support from intellectuals or from college professors. The trades workers were stereotyped as Archie Bunker bigots. Few in the academic community really believed it mattered much if construction workers went through an extensive training and internship program. After all, many of them thought how much do you need to know to be a mere blue collar worker?

Later it was the colleges and universities which were under attack in the DeFunis and Bakke cases. Many in the academic community who saw nothing wrong with a quota plan imposed on construction work shuddered at the thought that decisions on who would be admitted to colleges, graduate schools, medical and law schools would no longer be decided strictly by the institution of higher learning but by rules and regulations set down by Washington or the courts. Many objected that the use of quotas in higher education would dilute traditional standards of merit and lead to the admission of some who were not qualified at the expense of applicants who were.

A lot of the construction workers who opposed the Philadelphia Plan just couldn't sympathize with the colleges. According to them, putting up a building the right way, making sure the electrical works is perfect—these are matters of life or death. But why quibble over who gets into college or law school? In some cases the building trades worker was happy to get even. "They didn't care when it happened to us," he said, "so why should we help them?"

But now there is a quota case everyone can understand. The administrator of desegregation of the Cleveland public schools found that there were many football and basketball teams in the high schools that were not integrated. Only one of Cleveland's seven East Side teams had even a single white player on the basketball team. Desegregation boss Donald Waldrip decided that 20 percent of every varsity basketball team should be white. That meant 2.4 white players on each 12-member team. Since he found it difficult to find fractional players, he rounded it off to 2 whites per team.

The order set off an uproar in Cleveland and elsewhere around the country. Construction workers and graduate students are not very visible to most America. Basketball players are. Suddenly, picking people on the basis of race—black or white—rather than skill and accomplishment appears ludicrous. The Cleveland students themselves seem most aware of the injustice. Robert Crowe, the white senior class president at a high school that is 86 percent minority, was quoted as saying: "Sure it's sometimes depressing to go to a game and see only black players, but if they're the best they should definitely play. I was elected class president by blacks and whites." The athletic director of the same high school is reported to be perplexed. A December 4 editorial in The Washington Star noted that he had "stationed himself near the bus debarkation station, appraising the bused-in West Side whites for prospective slam-dunkers and playmaker guards." The editorial observed that Cleveland school officials will probably come up with "ingenious ways" to comply with the quota directive—"perhaps a special bussing program for white male students over 6-foot-3, possessing demonstrably effective jump shots."

Maybe the absurdity of this particular instance will make people think straight about racial quotas. But maybe not. Writing of the Cleveland situation in the sports pages of The New York Times on December 3, reporter George Veesey concludes with the proposition that quotas are wrong for school sports because, after all, "basketball is only a game," but right for the "important" things in life, such as "a good classroom education or entry to housing, jobs and graduate schools." Obviously, we should pick basketball players on the basis of their skills, surgeons on the basis of their color. (One can also argue, of course, that school sports are not "only a game" but may well be the starting point for multi-million-dollar jobs. Ask Dave Winfield.)

If not quotas, what? There is a widespread belief that the Reagan Administration will undo some of the mischief that's been done when affirmative action has been interpreted exclusively to mean the use of quotas. That would be healthy. But calling a halt to affirmative action which seeks to help the disadvantaged develop their potential as individuals would be a disaster. Key to this kind of affirmative action is education—everything from early childhood education (which has now been shown to make a real difference in later schooling and life) to solid basic skills instruction in the early grades to job training programs while students are still in school.

Quotas are unfair, divisive and—as the Cleveland sports directive should help us to see—just plain dumb. Funding for programs that help to close the gap created by years of poverty and discrimination is absolutely essential.

Spirited cheerleaders

Former prep cager still loves the game

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

When John Jesson hits a jump shot or pulls down a rebound these days, he doesn't hear a sound from the crowd. Not a peep.

Quite a change from his high school career at Westland John Glenn where the 6-foot-3 forward earned All-League and All-Area berths following a successful senior season. Jesson averaged some 16 points and 10 rebounds per game, good enough for a nice share of fan and peer recognition.

That was 1975. Today, Jesson is a recreation league ballplayer. One of the better ones around. After five games in the Westland-Garden City basketball circuit, Jesson leads all scorers with a 34.5 points-per-outing average, including one 43-point performance.

Yet despite such impressive statistics for the undefeated Jock Shop team, the Bailey Recreation Center in Westland remains relatively quiet on game nights. Only the squeaking of gym shoes running up and down the floor, an occasional referee's whistle or shouts of encouragement from teammates are heard.

The level of competition varies greatly from night to night. Players can range in talent from playground types with little if any organized basketball background to former professionals.

Jesson holds his own no matter what the talent on the floor.

"I'm playing four nights a week now," admitted Jesson, who also competes in Walled Lake and Taylor leagues in addition to the Westland-Garden City schedule. "In Walled Lake I'm on a team with Curtis Rowe and Willie Norwood (former Detroit Pistons). I had to try out to make that team."

"Here (Westland) the competition is not real stiff," he added. "There are only a few good teams and I'm lucky to be on a team with some great passers. We get the ball out quick and I get a lot of fast break baskets."

Jesson began his basketball career in the eighth grade ("Most kids started earlier," he points out), before moving to John Glenn. At 6-foot-3 and 180 pounds he was big enough to compete at forward and center in the prep ranks. Then his problems surfaced.

"Sure, I wanted to play college basketball," Jesson admitted, "but there wasn't much interest in me. I got a couple letters but I think there would have been a better opportunity if our team had done better. We had started out strong but only had a mediocre second half of the season."

"And at 6-foot-3, I was too small to play forward in college. I had to change to guard and I just couldn't play that position very well."

Following a year of work at a bakery, Jesson joined the Henry Ford Community College squad as a walk-on for one year, with little results.

"They had just had a big recruiting year and the coach gave a preference to the recruits," recalled Jesson. "I didn't see too much action."

Since high school, however, Jesson has continued to compete in various recreation leagues and pickup contests. Now he finally believes he's at the top of his game.

"I've gained 20 pounds since high school," laughed Jesson, 23, "but I'm just as quick as before. A lot of guys play once a week during the winter — I enjoy playing all year round, even in summer. I love the game and it keeps me in shape."

Jesson, who recently moved to Wixom, is even willing to commute some 20 miles for his games in Westland. A truck driver, he's always been able to schedule time for his fun on the hardwoods.

One doesn't score more than 30 points per night without plenty of practice, whether in the NBA or the local recreation league. Dedication is as much a part of John Jesson's game as his 15-foot jump shot.

MOVIES

'Stir Crazy' unites talented comedians

Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor draw laughs.

'Stir Crazy,' a Columbia Pictures release. Directed by Sidney Poller. Written by Bruce Friedman. Starring Gene Wilder, Richard Pryor, Georg Stanford Brown. Rated 'R'.

By J.T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

"Stir Crazy" is not a sequel per se, but it is a re-uniting of the very successful comedy team of Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor that made "Silver Streak" a very enjoyable movie. The film, however, does suffer from some of the maladies which often befall sequels, such as in this case a very weak script. But it is not a fatal flaw, and ardent fans of these two men and their respective careers will not go away disappointed.

Pryor and Wilder are such talented performers that one wishes they did not have to be strapped to a movie that dictates such things as exposition, conflict and resolution. The script, written by Bruce Jay Friedman, leaves them much of the first hour of the film to simply set up their characters in comedic situations, and each gets to flex his unique power upon our funny bones with their very charming yet often wildly outrageous goings-on.

But when the plot gets going, all it does is bog them down into some rather dull situations.

One of the things that keeps many of the Crosby-Hope "Road" movies so fresh and funny today is their total disregard of plot conventions. With almost every situation, they mocked the time and place they were in and threw the conventions of plot to an exotic breeze. They used locales and predicaments the way an improvisational actor would use props — they are mere trappings upon which to set up the jokes.

"Stir Crazy" tries the same thing with a prison somewhere in the deep south, and it's simply a bad choice. Sadistic prison guards are simply not all that funny in a comedy movie, and it only leaves room for some "boy am I scared" humor but little else.

Director Sidney Poller obviously knows when he has a good thing going, and there are scenes in the film in which he seems to have just started the camera rolling and let Pryor and Wilder go through their very funny antics. How the rest of the cast managed to keep a straight face is a mystery to me. The film needs more of such sequences.

With a film that starts out in New York and ends up in a rodeo down South, one can not help thinking that the producers wanted something in the film to appeal to everyone, so the film starts out like Woody Allen's "Manhattan" and ends up as a sort of "Urban Convicts." But when you've got talents like Pryor and Wilder you've already got something for everyone.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

"The Legend Of Jesse James"
Various Artists
(A&M)

Here's an interesting commodity for you: a musical biography of perhaps America's best-known bad guy, Jesse James, as performed mainly by Levon Helm (ex of the Band), Johnny Cash, Emmylou Harris, and country-rocker Charlie Daniels.

Now, it's very seldom that the musical story succeeds on record, just witness the abysmal "War Of The Worlds" fiasco of a few years back, or more recently (and similar to this project) the Civil War musical melodrama "White Mansions." But for some reason—I'm not quite sure just what exactly—"The Legend Of Jesse James" works, both musically and lyrically in a way that demands repeated listenings, something extremely rare with this type of venture.

Divided into 16 songs (or "chapters"), the album kicks off with "Ride Of The Redlegs," which tells of how Federal soldiers rode onto the James' farm in search of Frank, a Confederate guerilla. Even though the 15-year-old Jesse didn't know the whereabouts of his older brother, the officer gives the command "Sergeant strip him - Corporal whip him - Beat him till he can't walk."

Before leaving, the soldiers hang Jesse and Frank's stepfather — just as an afterthought.

I'm sure the story is familiar to most of you, but the delightful country musical setting adds atmosphere galore, with Albert Lee's guitar playing every bit as Jesse's six-gun. The singers are obviously sympathetic to the story, and Paul Kennerly's songs provide them with a perfect outlet for their feelings — and I'll guarantee you that anyone as totally involved in country music (and legends) as Jonny Cash definitely has some feelings to let out.

"The Legend Of Jesse James" is enjoyable on different levels; as a story, and also as nothing more than some fine country music with a rock twist, if you prefer it that way. And since it clocks in at over 50 minutes, it's also one of your better LP buys.

The liner notes state "One thing is sure though, his name still thrills the imagination as much today as it did one hundred and ten years ago." Happily, this album reaffirms that statement.

Jesse James' legend is musical success

RETRO
"U-Boat" b-w "Picture Plane"

Retro is a local band of some reknown, and this release marks their recording debut. Both sides of this 45 show different sides of Retro; "U-Boat" the stranger (which isn't to say bad), and "Picture Plane" the catchier, more commercially viable end of their sound.

Although many may disagree with me, I much prefer the latter.

Musical biography offers star performers

Retro will keep you dancing

course, a television set, but if it weren't for the irresistible chorus of "Television television turn it on!" you might not have any idea of what the title refers to. This is due to vocalist (and songwriter) James Atkinson's surreal lyricism, which at its best borders on brilliant. It's no wonder that certain major record labels have expressed an interest in Retro.

Carrying the musical burden are guitarists Daniel Cicchelli and Jerry Siclovian, who lay their lines down over the backbeat of bassist Frank Callis (who's since been replaced by Ralph Valdez) and drummer Martin Bandyke, the latter really standing out as a exceptional instrumentalist.

If you can relate to lyrics like "We drink up the night it's an empty bottle - Throw me a line from your second novel - We laugh and tango up the drunken streets - We tongue-tied speak but it's all Greek," then you'll definitely like Retro.

If you can't relate to those lyrics, then I guess you'll just have to be satisfied with dancing, because that's what you'll be doing as you listen to this record. Honest.

Forced hibernation can be a drag

There's something that Detroit Free Press columnist Nickie McWhirter and I have in common besides being column writers.

We have both learned that being independent of help from a lot of others is a luxury neither of us can afford.

Nickie (pardon the familiarity!) and I have had the dubious privilege of being "laid-up" for several weeks while we recover from non-glamorous ailments that are no less inconvenient for being in that category.

McWhirter is laid up with a cast on a broken foot and this person has been dealing with a blood clot in her leg, acquired I know not how.

The ailment entailed a 9-day hospital stay for me, including Christmas Eve and Christmas Day — which was bearable only because of the tender loving care of family, friends and the hospital staff — and is ending up with a long, boring recuperation at home (still!) mainly with one leg elevated and a minimum of action on my part.

Being the resident of a two-story home, I have to carefully plan my itinerary so that each trip up or down doesn't waste a move, and in the event I miscalculate, I am punished by having to wait until the next trip is absolutely essential.

In the meantime, other muscles and bones (and a bit of blubber) register their varying complaints and I creak and groan as I shift around — and I have come to the conclusion that my "sound effects" should be recorded to be accompanied by some rock group!

I HATE asking for the TV to be turned off, on, up or down, or my coffee to be made, and other small chores that my understanding and patient husband assumed when necessary.

Daughters Number One and Two have been on hand to help when needed (the main duties falling on the closest, I must admit) and Number One Granddaughter came for a Christmas vacation stay and helped by dismantling the Christmas decorations and tree put up before I assumed invalid status.

Calls from concerned friends and relatives, cards and notes and flowers have left me humble and grateful — and firmly resolved to be that considerate of others once I regain my position as a normal, ambulatory-at-will person.

I guess the gist of the whole situation is the often-pooched at Golden Rule — "do unto others ..."

And believe me I will TRY! (Also, many thanks are due to Lee Smith and Sue McDonald, who have added Suburban Living to their many responsibilities while I am laid up — chores I hope to soon be able to alleviate, doctor willing!)

Alcoholism is topic at BPW meet

A majority of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club members braved the winter weather Monday, Jan. 5, to attend their regular dinner-meeting planned by the Scholarship Committee.

They heard a talk on "Alcoholism: the number one health problem in America." Over 40 million Americans are affected by alcohol abuse. Alcoholism is a family disease; for every alcoholic there are at least four people suffering as a result of the disease. The human loss to individuals, families and community is incalculable. The alcoholic deserves and requires comprehensive and responsive care. Help is available at the Council on Alcoholism — Detroit 868-4065 or Ann Arbor 971-7900. Members and guests asked questions and received literature regarding drugs and health problems.

Jan. 9 is the Aim for Victory ERA Benefit at the Masonic Auditorium. This event is promoted by all Michigan groups, including BPW, which is supporting ERA.

January workshops, focusing on health, energy and economics are to be held Jan. 24 at Grayling, Lansing and Troy. The local club will have representation at the latter as well as the International Weekend hosted by the Windsor BPW Club on Feb. 20-21-22.

The Humanitarian Committee will continue its bingo participation at Evergreen Nursing Home on Jan. 16.

The next regular Belleville BPW dinner-meeting is scheduled for Feb. 2 at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton at 6:30 p.m. when the Foundation Committee will have an "International Night" theme. State President, Marlene Denol will be the speaker and this is an excellent opportunity to hear this dynamic woman. She will have up-to-date information on the national convention at San Francisco when Phyllis Harrison from Michigan will be installed as president of the National Federation of BPW.

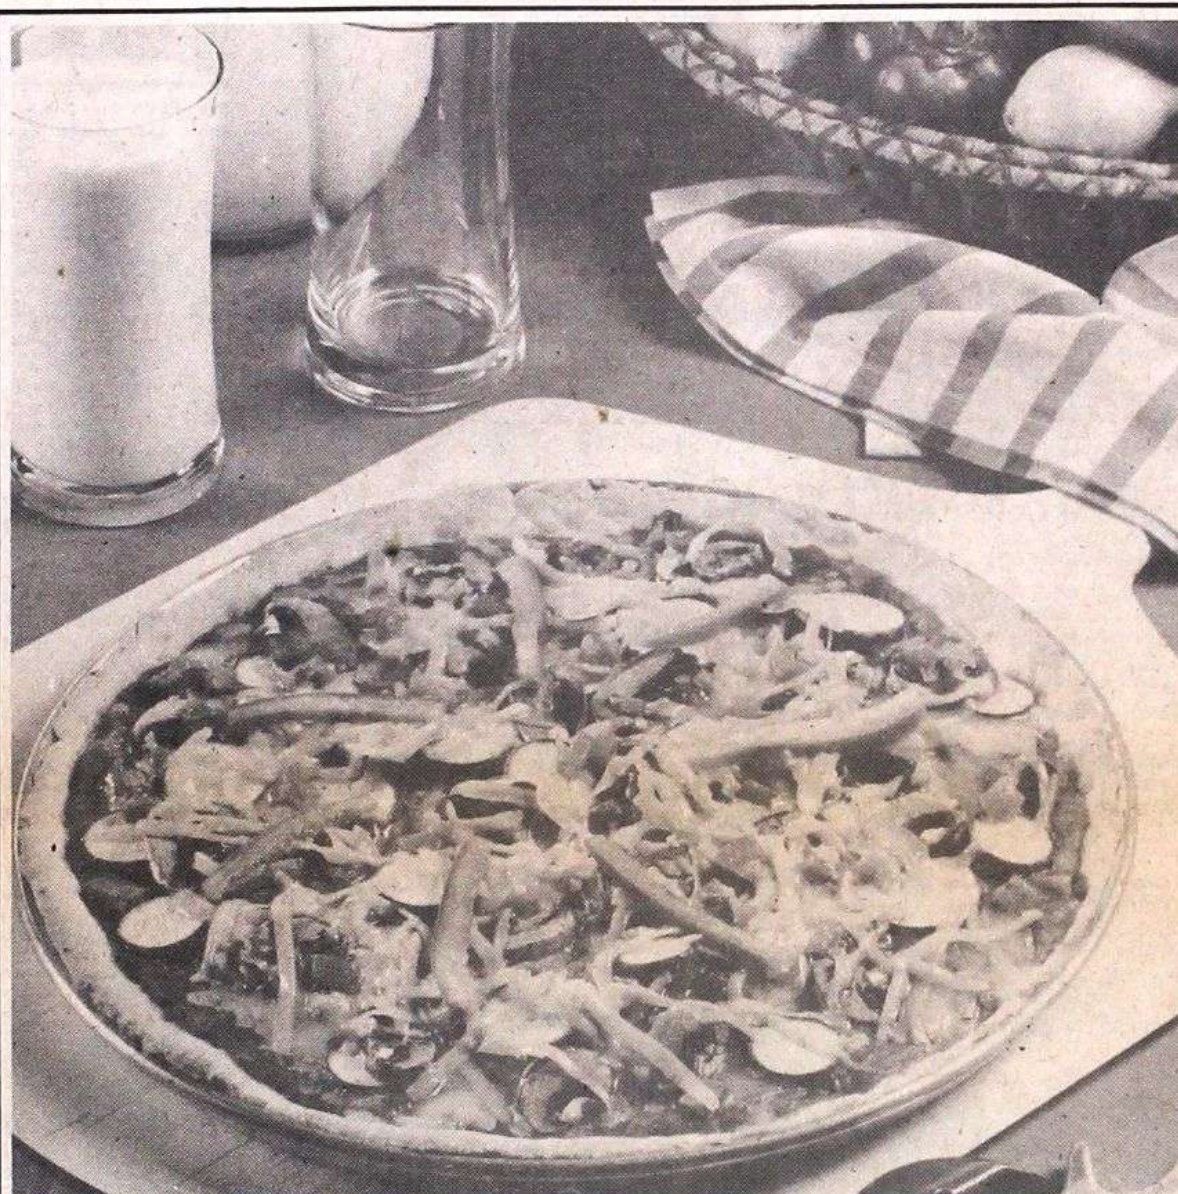

Dinner reservations may be made no later than Jan. 29 to either president Bonnie Pavlatti at 483-4562 or Foundation Chairman Ruth Davis at 483-4027. Guests are welcome.

YWCA sets topic 'Women and credit' for Jan 16 meet

"Women and Credit" will be the topic when the YWCA Support Group for Divorced Women meets Jan. 16 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mary Ann Currie, a volunteer with Credit Counseling Centers, Southfield, will be the speaker at the meeting which will be held in the Fellowship Hall of Southminster United Presbyterian Church, 21845 Wick (corner of Monroe, east of Telegraph and Pardee) Taylor.

The YWCA Support Groups for Divorced Women meets semi-monthly on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in the church. It serves as a support system to share mutual feelings and fulfill specific needs of women who are separated, divorced, contemplating divorce or in the process of divorce.

Everyone is welcome to attend. For further information, contact Pamela Cronenwett, Area Director, at the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 561-4110, during business hours.

Penny -saving pizzas

As people who pick pizza as their favorite food have discovered, there's literally no limit to its versatility!

Remember, the first pizzas were made by bakers in Italy from scraps of dough, tomato sauce and cheese to feed the poor. They were thin but hot and hearty, the tomato sauce and seasonings combining with the cheese to give them an appeal that few foods can match.

Oh, so you don't have any meat on hand? The first pizzas probably didn't have it either. If you want to keep the pizza meatless, there are vegetables that can make it seem meaty. They include eggplant, mushrooms and zucchini with tomatoes, of course. These supply vegetable protein and the cheeses, Provolone, Ceddar and Parmesan, provide animal protein.

Or you can make a meaty pizza with Italian sausage and pizza sauce. This type, naturally, doesn't need as much cheese, so Colby and Mozzarella can decorate the top in a triangular arrangement that melts invitingly toward the end of cooking time.

Take your choice in the crust, as well. Vegetarian Pizza has a crust made from buttermilk baking mix. Easy 'n Good Pizza uses frozen bread dough. Either way, it's "Buon Appetito!"

VEGETARIAN PIZZA

Crust:

1 1/4 cups buttermilk baking mix

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

1/4 tsp. Italian seasoning

One-third to 1/2 cup milk

Filling:

2 tbsp. butter

One-third cup chopped onion

1 small clove garlic, minced

1 can (8 oz.) stewed tomatoes

1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste

1 tsp. sugar

1/2 tsp. oregano

1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. pepper

3 tbsp. butter

1 cup diced eggplant

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Provolone cheese

1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms

1 cup zucchini, sliced 1/4-inch thick

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Ceddar cheese

Green pepper strips

Chopped pimiento

Combine buttermilk mix, Parmesan cheese and

Italian seasoning. Stir in enough milk to make a soft dough. Knead 8 to 10 strokes on surface dusted with buttermilk mix. Press dough into buttered 12-inch pizza pan, forming a rim around edge; set aside. For filling, saute' onion and garlic in 2 tablespoons butter in medium-sized saucepan until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in tomatoes and liquid, tomato paste, sugar and seasonings. Heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes; set aside. Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

Meanwhile, saute' eggplant in 3 tablespoons butter until tender-crisp, about 5 minutes; drain. Spread sauce over crust; sprinkle with Provolone cheese. Sprinkle eggplant, mushrooms and zucchini over cheese. Bake 15 to 18 minutes. Remove from oven. Sprinkle with Ceddar cheese; arrange green pepper strips over cheese; sprinkle with pimiento. Return to oven and bake just until cheese is melted, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately.

EASY 'N GOOD PIZZA

One 14-inch pizza

1 loaf (1 lb.) frozen white bread dough

1 lb. mild Italian sausage, casing removed

1 cup chopped onion

1 can (15 oz.) pizza sauce

1 tsp. oregano

1/4 tsp. salt

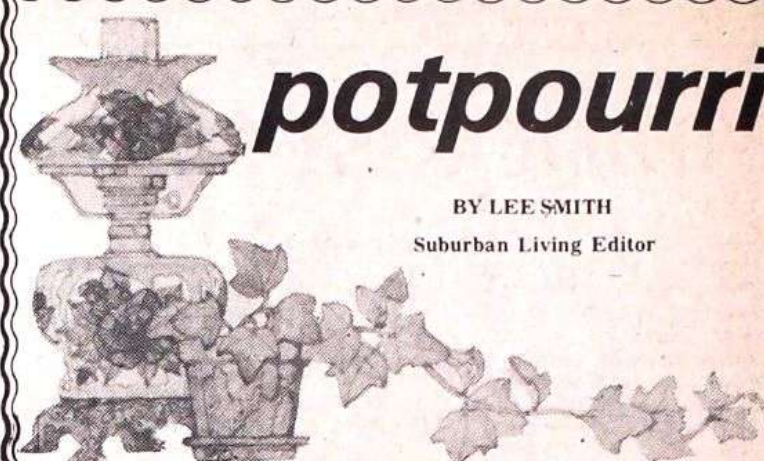

1/4 tsp. pepper

4 slices (4 oz.) Colby cheese, each cut into 2 triangles

4 slices (4 oz.) Mozzarella cheese, each cut into 2 triangles

Butter frozen dough; place in unbuttered large bowl; cover loosely and let thaw several hours at room temperature or overnight in refrigerator. Punch down risen dough. Roll out on lightly floured surface to form a 14-inch circle. Press dough into a buttered 14-inch pizza pan, pressing up to form an edge. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Saute' Italian sausage with onion in a large skillet until sausage is brown and crumbly; drain off drippings. Stir in pizza sauce, oregano, salt and pepper. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Reserve 1/2 cup sauce for topping. Spread remaining sauce evenly over top of dough in pizza pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Alternate overlapping triangles of Colby and Mozzarella cheese to form a circle about 1 inch from edge of sauce. Spoon reserved sauce over cheese slices, near center of pizza. Return to oven just until cheese melts, about 3 minutes. Serve immediately.

Suburban Living Editor

If I were ever given the choice of returning as an animal, it would definitely be a bear — that smartest of creatures who doesn't put up with this long-haul we call "winter" and simply hibernates for the season. Being no fan of this portion of the year, it's with some amazement that I find myself opening "potpourri" with that subject.

Toolin' on down the highway after depositing our youngest at WMU for her final round, I could suddenly see only the magnificence of that startlingly sunny January day. The spectacular beauty of the countryside, unsullied by slush or mush and broken only by the signatures of snowmobiling, found us (BG could appreciate it, too) gasping at the scenery.

Vast borders of purity — the result of an early morning dusting of fresh powder — lined our route while a few puffs of cumuli added contrast to a brilliantly blue sky. The continuing panorama was God made for photography bugs (our camera was home.)

Since October is my favorite of months (and how I can go on about that time of year) I can't really believe I'm carrying on this way about the wonders of winter.

To add to our enjoyment that trip, we took a little detour off the super slab and popped into the city of Marshall. Refreshingly and at long last, time was not at a premium for us that day and we managed a brief visit to that rather remarkable place. (Nearly 10 years of taking our trio back and forth to Kalamazoo and at long last ...)

Entering the city via its main artery, we viewed its parade of historic homes, many still festive in their holiday regalia. And, surprisingly and impressively, many had American flags fluttering atop tall poles or on masts extending from door frames.

If lovely old architecture is one of your pleasures in life, you'd delight in the many examples of Greek revival, Gothic and Italianate to be found throughout the area. It became a study of houses ... one after another ... amid mounds of snow and drifts with frosty icicles forming beards along their eaves.

And I couldn't help but wonder what it must be like come October. If things could appear so beautiful in such a monochromatic setting, what MUST they be like amid autumn's kaleidoscope?

FOUND A NOTE WAITING for me at work last week; a reader of "potpourri" from Wayne wishing to add HER comments to our recent listing of "wouldn't it be nice if's". And I think most of us can identify with her suggestions, as you'll see.

Wouldn't it be nice, she wrote, if folks would shovel out their mailboxes and paper boxes. Having been a rural letter carrier at one time and her kids still having newspaper routes, she appreciates the fact this is a MUST in order to get delivery. (BG will LOVE this one, Mrs. T.)

If so many newscasters (anchor men and women) didn't try so hard to be "cute" while giving their reports. Too much fun and games; too little news, she says.

If Howard Cosell and Bob Ufer would BOTH get lost! (Hear, hear!) If politicians would come to believe that charity should begin at home. And let's begin with those elderly we hear are eating dog food to exist, she says.

(And I've a P.S. of my own to add: wouldn't it be nice if the "year of the rear" is finally behind us? Did the rest of you get just a wee bit tired of looking at all those posteriors?)

That Christmas present of mine, "American Averages", which I added to my personal reference collection, gets more interesting each time I break open the covers.

I'm presuming that most of you don't have access to that most fascinating collection of "Amazing facts of American life" and therefore, I'd like to pass on a few more to you this week.

Take the average American woman for instance (and Henny Youngman would add, "please!") — She marries at 21; has her first child 16 to 25 months later; has two or three children; quits having children before she is 30; is 52 when her last child marries; lives alone with her husband for another 11 years before he dies and lives within an hour's drive of her nearest child's home.

That same average woman is also the paymistress since in two out of three homes in the U.S., the wife pays the bills. And, like seven out of 10 families in the country, she and her husband own their own home.

And how about those American kids? Of every 100 in America: 66 live with both parents (still in their first marriage); five live part of the time with each of their divorced parents; eight live with one parent and one step-parent; 18 live with one parent and three live with neither parent but instead with relatives.

As to what we own as average Americans? The average household has six radios, including those in the family cars. There's a television set in 98 percent of American homes. In three-quarters, it's a color set and half of us have two or more TV's.

And of every 100 homes in the good old U.S. of A., 36 have three bedrooms, 34 have two, 15 have one, 13 have four or more and two don't have any.

After reading Cynthia Freeman's "Portraits" and liking her style and subject matter, I was eager to sample another of her novels so got myself on the waiting list at the library for one of her earlier works, "A World Full of Strangers."

This is the kind of tale where you long to see the male protagonist get his comeuppance. David Rezinetsky, the youngest son in a family of orthodox Jews, has a chip on his shoulder from the very beginning of the story which causes the reader to dislike him almost at once.

His progression into a self-satisfying, demanding egotist leaves you with a bad taste in your mouth despite his repressed inner feelings of inferiority. You do NOT grow to like David who is convinced early in his marriage to Katie that being a Jew is a definite hindrance, the reason he will never become successful. His decision to forsake his heritage, his family and everything relative to Judaism remains the central theme throughout the novel.

Katie, with whom he falls in love on their first meeting in New York's Jewish ghetto, bears the brunt of his self-centeredness and cruelty as does their son, Mark, who is never told the truth about his father's background. And the reader waits throughout the chapters for Katie to "seek revenge" for the deprivation of her faith and the indifference David (who has become David Reid) inflicts on both her and his son.

The fact that Katie does NOT demand more recognition and allows David's arrogance and hateful moods doesn't make her a very endearing person either. But you ARE able to register a little sympathy for her and even more for her son.

And when David eventually takes a mistress, it seems almost unbelievable that anyone could love him. His lavishness with Maggie, such a marked contrast to his character, only adds fuel to the flame of one's dislike of him. Coupled with his apathy toward a son who truly loves him and longs for his friendship and a wife who has suffered his disdain, he comes across a pretty unsympathetic cad.

Freeman, who is most knowledgeable about Jewish families and their relationships, IS a good storyteller and, unless you like saccharine sweet tales, you're going to enjoy "World Full of Strangers."

THE BOTTOM LINE: Nothing makes a man and wife feel closer these days than a joint tax return.

Methodist women visit Chelsea Home residents

Members of the First United Methodist Church, Iva Dahl, Charlotte Budd, Lucille Touse and Margaret Saunders made the regular monthly trip to the Methodist Home in Chelsea on the fifth Tuesday of December. They took refreshments and visited with several residents, among them Mrs. Imogene Cole.

Mrs. Kay Parker and friend, Dorothy Sprout of Ypsilanti, were visitors at Howell Chapter No. 372, O.E.S., on Tuesday of last week.

After having spent the holidays with their sister Mrs. Helen White of Bedell Street, Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Reuther left for their home at Effingham, Ill., Jan. 5.

Word has been received here by relatives and friends that Mr. and Mrs. Arman V. Dolikian of Palatine, Ill. are the proud parents of a 5 lb. - 15 oz. infant daughter, Mary Katherine, born Dec. 19. The new mother is the former Ann Lochrie, a one-time resident of East Huron River Drive.

Pam Graves and Mary McLaughlin motored to New Port

Richey, Fla. where they spent several days with Verne and Blanche Clark, former Belleville residents. After an early Christmas and plenty of sight-seeing, the twosome drove on to Delray Beach where they spent some time with Carol Dickenson, a former Belleville friend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maki of Quirk Road recently returned home from Stillwater, Okla., where they spent the holidays with their son, Dale and his wife Patti.

Mrs. Betty Parkinson of West Huron River Drive and sister, Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street were guests during the holidays of the former's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leeman Laney and son, David, at Sevierville, Tenn.

Paula Dolph of Pittsburgh, Pa. arrived to spend Christmas her parents, the Albert Dolphs of Edgar Street on Dec. 30. She, with her parents and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler of Milan, left for Chicago where Paula will be residing.

After four years as an occupational therapist and clinical supervisor at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh, she will now be taking a new position at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago.

The senior members of the party returned home Jan. 3 after a week of visiting and sight seeing in the Windy City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. McKelvey and family of East Huron River Drive have returned home from Spring Hill, Fla. where they spent the holidays with Mrs. McKelvey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Folk.

Sunday guests at the Russell Wilson home on Elwell Road were relatives from Milan, Mrs. Ruth Kerkes and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Early and daughter, Jenny.

After having been a patient at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti since Christmas Eve, James White was able to return to his, Bedell Street home Jan. 8.

Loralee Statham of Austin, Texas spent two weeks during the holidays with her parents, the Kenneth Mericles of Denton Road and relatives in Toledo, Ohio.

On Saturday, Dec. 27, Northville Charley's was the site for a mother-daughter luncheon attended by Blanche Mericle and her daughter, Loralee and Diane Kos and her daughter, Robin, of Livonia.

Three generations were represented by Marian Kirberg and her daughter, Kristen, of Walled Lake and Marian's mother, Gwen Timmlin, of Du Bois, Pa.

Mrs. Kirberg and Mrs. Kos are friends and former teacher colleagues of Ms. Statham. Loralee left for her home at Austin on Jan. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter James of Tazewell, Tenn., former Clay Road residents, spent the holidays with their children in the Belleville community.

On 40th anniversary

Traskoses feted at reception

MR. AND MRS. HENRY TRASKOS

"The wedding reception we never had" was the way Henry and "Beanie" Traskos described the surprise reception their children hosted recently in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Since their elopement to Toledo, O. and marriage by a justice of the peace on Dec. 28, 1940, the couple have made their home in Belleville.

The former Ervina McNutt, daughter of Thomas and Edna McNutt of Romulus, Mrs. Traskos is affectionately called "Beanie". She and her husband, the son of Sylvester and Mary Traskos of Belleville, added four children to their family over the years. With their wives and children, they planned and hosted the Dec. 27 party at the PNA Hall.

On hand to welcome guests were Larry Traskos and his wife, Faye; Ron Traskos and his wife, Pat; Debbie Traskos Marshall and her husband, Pat, and Gloria Traskos Coppock and her husband, Bob, all of Belleville. Grandchildren on the family tree include Greg, Tracy, Dina and Wendy Traskos and Amy and Scott Marshall.

Guests from California, Florida, the surrounding communities and the "bride's" sister from Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Jean Prill, took part in the festivities which featured dinner and dancing.

A specially designed cake, personalized on the corners by builders' tools, an airplane, house and woman working on ceramics, focused on the honored pair's occupations and hobbies. A silk floral arrangement made by Gloria Coppock was a centerpiece and presented as a gift to her parents.

Mr. Traskos, a licensed contractor, has been responsible for much of the building in this community for the past 30 years. He owns and pilots his own plane and Mrs. T. spends her time working on ceramics.

Seven newcomers make the scene

Michelle Elsur is the name chosen for the new daughter born Dec. 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bebeau of Wianae, Hawaii. The infant, whose mother is the former Eileen Kuchta of Dearborn, weighed 6 lbs.-4 ozs. and measured 19 inches.

Michelle's birth made first-time grandparents of Anthony and Mary Lee Kuchta of Dearborn and was Number 20 on the list of great-grandchildren for Mrs. Leona Agge of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kuchta Sr. of Belleville are the newcomers' paternal great-grandparents.

January 6 from here on in will mean "birthday time" at the home of Roger and Julie Bird at 215 Belle Villa, Belleville. And their little son, Ryan R., will be the honored guest.

The new heir was delivered at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti at 8:34 a.m., his vital statistics being recorded at 7 lbs.-15 ozs. and 21 inches.

Giving her mother a hand with the new baby is 28-months-old Carey Bird. Also checking in on the newest addition to their family trees are the proud grandparents, Agnes Tkachuk and Ralph and Arlene Bird, all of Belleville.

Mrs. Violet Bird of Belleville is taking honors in the great-grandmother department for the fifth time, we hear.

Ryan's mom is the former Julie Tkachuk.

Making her debut at 2:18 p.m. Dec. 13, Courtney Ann Sullens was an early Christmas present for Gordon and Pamela Sullens of 48485 Bayshore Dr., Belleville.

The couple's first child, she arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, weighed 6 lbs.-15 ozs. and measured 19½ inches.

Her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullens, are residents of Belleville as are her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sullens and George Allan.

The baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Plevnia, reside in Bad Axe.

The birth of their second son, David Grant, is being announced by Kimberly and Dennis Warner of 130 S. Edgemont St., Belleville.

Helping to look in on his new brother these blustery winter days is Dennis John Warner II, who's 3-year-old.

and Mrs. Grant Warner of Oscoda. Their mother is the former Kimberly Price.

Great-grandparent honors go to Pearl Ikens of Boyne City and Emma Rhinehart of Ypsilanti.

Four-year-old Kenneth Karoleff has a new baby sister and he'd like people to know a little bit about her. She bears the title "Alaine Marie" and was born Dec. 4 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Her weight was recorded at 7 lbs.-11 ozs. and her length at 19½ inches.

She is the daughter of Kyril and Judy Karoleff of 41741 Coolidge, Belleville, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Nevenka Karoleff of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. William Haavisto of Dearborn Heights.

Joining the Bradford family early in the new year of 1981 was a baby daughter, Lisa Ray, who put in her appearance Jan. 3 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Arriving at 8:50 p.m., she weighed 7 lbs.-13 ozs. and measured 20¼ inches.

She is the daughter of Michael and Paula Bradford of 9045 Parkwood, Belleville, and the new sister of 3-year-old Dwayne James Bradford.

Her mother is the former Paula McCarty and her grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Glen McCarty of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bradford of Pontiac.

It's a boy! is the news being announced these early days of the new year by Karen and Dominic Serra of 7493 Kirkridge Park Dr., Belleville.

Their first child, who was given the label "Kevin Roland", premiered Dec. 30 at 8:24 p.m. at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne.

The 20-inch, 7 lb.-10 oz. newcomer is the grandson of Roland and Joyce Gagneur of Westland and Adeline Serra of St. David, Ariz., and the great-grandson of Harold and Mildred Case of National City, Mich.

The new mother is the former Karen Gagneur.

Moose Lodge sets
Jan. 17 enrollment

Members of Belleville Moose Lodge No. 934 and Women of the Moose No. 1135 delivered two baskets to the needy in the area on Christmas Eve. Much credit goes to the general membership with special tribute to Joe Such and his daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Welty for the extra donation which helped fill the gaps in the baskets. Children of Lodge members were treated to their annual holiday party for which there was an exceptional turnout. A special thanks is given to Santa Claus for taking the time to visit and to the three people who dressed as Sesame Street characters.

The next enrollment on Jan. 17 will be held in honor of Pilgrim George Steger. Dinner will be served by the Women of the Moose after the program and there will be music for entertainment.

altar date planned

The engagement of Vicki Lynn Anderson and Richard H. Wilson is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Anderson of 1293 Clayton Ave., Muskegon, parents of the bride-elect.

A 1977 graduate of Mona Shores High School in Muskegon, Miss Anderson is currently in her senior year at Michigan State University where she hopes to graduate in June with a bachelor's degree in nursing.

At MSU she is affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, Tower Guard, Mortar Board and Sigma Theta Tau honor societies.

The prospective bridegroom, who resides in Caro, is a 1974 alumnus of Belleville High School who earned a degree in agricultural economics from Michigan State University, College of Agriculture in 1978.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson of 42615 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, he is affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and now works as branch manager of Production Credit Association in Caro.

The young couple have set an August 1 altar date

"Bedwetting is Serious and Harmful."

If you have a bedwetter in your home, I strongly urge you to take steps at once to end it. The correction of bedwetting is an important mental health aid. It is very harmful to the child, distressing to the parents and can lead to very serious complications later on in life. Don't be blind to this problem no matter what you have been told by anyone else. Do something about it and do it now.

Joseph G. Molner, M.D.,

BEDWETTING IS CORRECTABLE

Many procedures such as restricting liquids, taking a child to the bathroom on a schedule, scolding, etc. do not end bedwetting. It can be stopped as early as 3 years of age. It should definitely be stopped before school age.

For the same reasons you would not think of waiting for your child to outgrow diapers, you also should not wait for your child to outgrow bedwetting. Millions of adults never outgrow it.

Glenn wins on Sisson's last second basket

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

John Glenn started the new year with two victories, nipping Northwest Suburban League foe Livonia Franklin, 57-55, in the last three seconds after ripping Cherry Hill, 80-68, three nights earlier.

The two impressive wins helped the Rockets shake off the Christmas Tournament loss to arch-rival Wayne Memorial and raise its overall record to 6-2. Rob Sisson's 5-footer swished the net with three seconds showing on the clock and three Patriots waving hands in his face.

Glenn Coach Dan Henry praised guard Tony Dalimonte for a fine two-way performance, notching six points and helping to run the Rocket offense. But more importantly, the scrappy ball of energy held Franklin scoring ace, Jeff Wojcik, to only eight points.

"I definitely believe that was the key to our victory," Henry said. "Wojcik went into the game with a 22 point average and we knew we had to shut him down. Dalimonte did a great job."

And it was Dalimonte who set up the winning basket. Glenn got the ball with two minutes left in the game and the score knotted at 55-all. The Rockets went into a 4-corner stall, trying to get Jim McIntyre's crew to come out of its zone defense. However, they wouldn't bite and Glenn called its last time-out to plan the final shot.

As the clock went inside 10 seconds, Dalimonte drove toward

Is the 'stall' coming back?

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Is it fair to take the air out of the basketball? Should teams be able to stall for four or five minutes at a time before tossing the ball at the basket? Is it time for a "shot-clock" in high school and college basketball like the pros have?

These are questions on the minds of many coaches and fans after several prep games last week ended in midget scores.

Most notable probably was Detroit Southwestern's 15-14 victory over Detroit Murray-Wright in the PSL in the Motor City. It was the lowest score in the league in more than 50 years and definitely had the fans muttering to themselves during the in-action.

But how about Plymouth Salem's 46-38 loss to Ypsilanti? The Rocks knew their best — and perhaps only — chance to beat the Braves was to stall and play a "deliberate" game. Coach Fred Thomann's crew trailed 19-14 after the first two periods before considerably more scoring in the last half raised the score closer to the mid-century point mark.

Over at Canton High School, the Chiefs of Craig Bell "let the air out of the ball" for another reason. With high-scoring star, Sean Houle, out with the flu and Canton mishandling the ball in the previous game's loss, Bell said "No more."

So he ordered the "deep freeze." At one point in the game, Canton wasted four minutes in the third period before aiming at the net.

Waterford Mott's coach, Ray Robinson, was furious with Bell's tactics and said they had no place in prep sports. "I'm glad I don't have to come back here and play," Robinson told reporters after the wintertime waltz on the court. Mott is dropping out of the Western Six League after this season.

"This is not my concept of how to play. You wonder if it's the coaches game or the kid's game," said Robinson, who estimated his team was on defense 22 of the game's 32 minutes. "When we stall, we look to score — not just run time off the clock."

Bell defended his game plan.

"We wanted to control the basketball and try to get some uncontested layups. We had 'blown' our game to Farmington three nights earlier with bad floor play, inaccurate passes and mental mistakes.

"I vowed that night that we wouldn't do it again against Mott. I planned a slowed-down, more deliberate game — and then when Sean Houle came down with the flu and couldn't play, I told the boys to work the ball until they either had a layup or high percentage shot.

"It's not illegal to stall," Bell said by way of explanation. "We played perfectly within the rules."

And what he says is true.

But what about the fans who come to watch action on the court? Are they being gypped by the lack of action on the hardwood? Do fans pay their dollars to watch players bounce the ball hundreds of times and exchange passes — or do they want to see scoring as well.

Dean Smith, the "Disciple of Delay" at North Carolina, is usually given credit for coming up with the "4-corner offense." That's the

Salem's 4-0 in Sub 8

Plymouth Salem got back on the winning track Friday night with a convincing 54-35 drubbing of Allen Park to run its Suburban '8' League mark to 4-0, good for a first place tie with Dearborn.

Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks were slated to invade the Pioneers' lair for a showdown battle for the league lead Tuesday night before tangling with Lincoln Park in a non-league affair tomorrow at Lincoln Park.

In the first game after the Christmas break, Salem used slowdown tactics to stay with a run-and-gun Ypsilanti squad and kept the score close even though the Braves won 46-38. Salem stands 6-2 on the season and Thomann looks for good things in the future.

"We lost two in a row — the last game of the Christmas Tournament and to Ypsi — so the victory over Allen Park was very nice to have under our belts," said the veteran Rock coach. "We're trying to reassert ourselves and get back to basic basketball."

"If we work hard enough and stick to the fundamentals we should be all right. However, our next series of games should tell a lot about how our season will go," he said.

After Dearborn and Lincoln Park, Salem will meet Redford Union, Trenton, Livonia Bentley and Belleville, with only RU being a non-leaguer of the last four opponents.

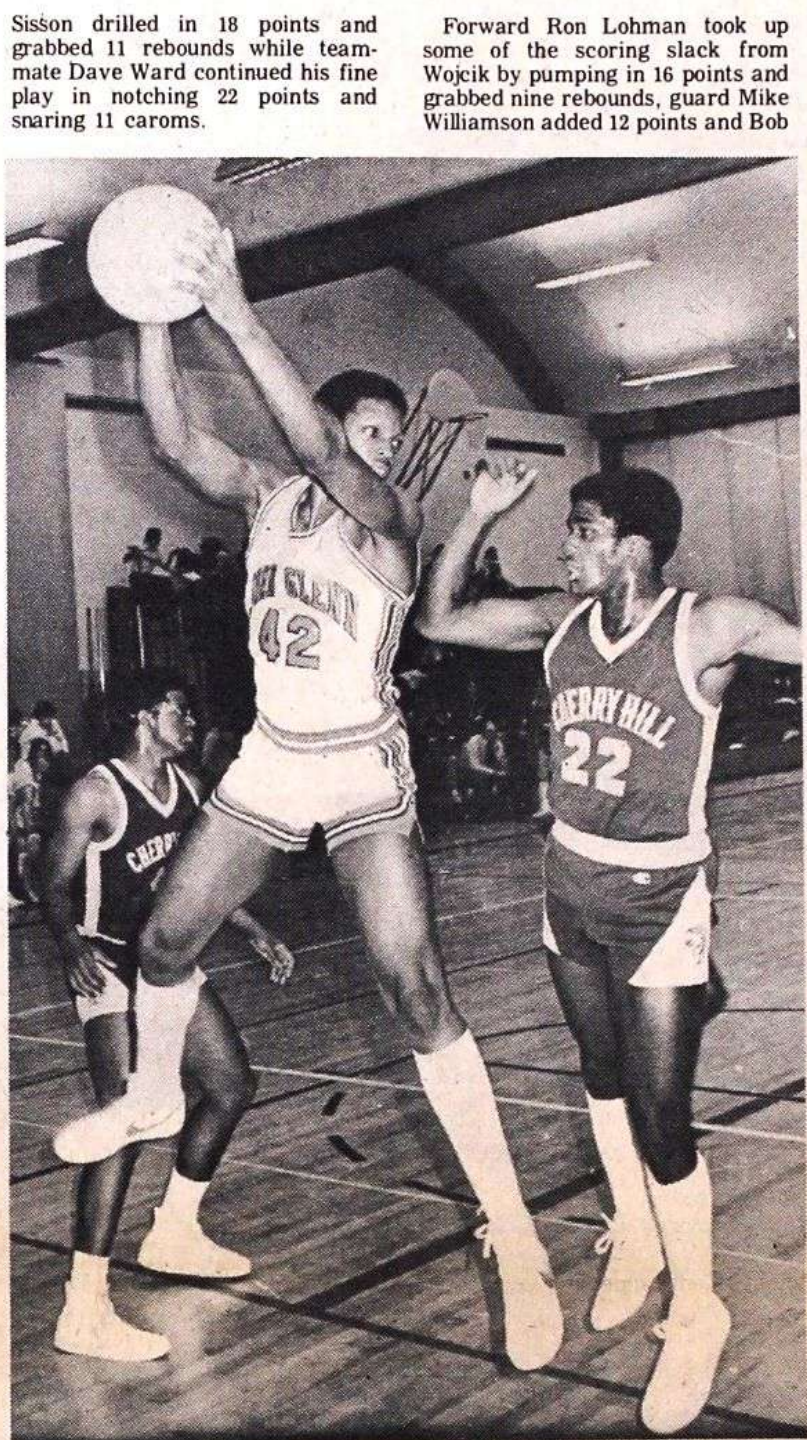

Salem came out roaring against Allen Park Friday night, taking a 12-5 first period lead and building up a large margin before the Jaguars battled back to close the gap to 24-20 at halftime. The Rocks got things moving again after intermission by rolling to 13-6 and 17-9 margins in the final two periods for their fourth win without a loss in the Sub 8 League.

Senior Paul Horton, Salem's 6-9 center, dominated the boards with 12 rebounds and scored 10 points. Teammate Mike McBride led all scorers with 14 points and Mike Sharp added 13 markers. Sophomore forward John Cohen grabbed six rebounds and junior David Miller had six caroms and six assists.

Guard Tom Bowdell and center Doug Cilpatrick led Allen Park with 12 points each.

Albertson: 'No way should we have lost'

Livonia Churchill's basketball players are due for a heavy workout this week.

That was the word from first year coach Don Albertson after the Chargers blew a large lead and lost Friday night to Farmington Harrison, 54-46.

"There's no way we should have lost that game," Albertson said firmly. "Our taller players just stood around while Harrison out-jumped them and out-hustled them in the last three periods."

"I'll say one thing, they are certainly going to work hard this week in practice."

Albertson's anguish was magnified when his Chargers let a 20-8 first half lead evaporate into a 24-24 halftime deadlock. Then the visitors outscored Churchill, 12-10, in the third period and 18-12 in the final stanza to take the unexpected victory.

"Our players just stood around and no one seemed interested in jumping for the ball off the backboards," he lamented. "Our boys are taller, but Harrison out-rebounded us 45-29 and hit 19 of 36 shots from the floor to our 20 of 65. You don't win many games shooting 31 percent from the floor."

Schwartz: 'It was disastrous'

Fordson buries Wayne, 64-36

Some wise man said "half a loaf is better than none."

But he certainly wasn't thinking of basketball or Wayne Memorial's two periods of play against Dearborn Fordson as the Zebras' partial effort ended in a disastrous 64-36 Great Lakes 8 League loss Friday night.

Coach Steve Schwartz watched in disappointment and frustration as the Tractors half-court trap defense turned 16 Wayne turnovers into 14 lay-ups in the first half. The Zebras' lackluster performance allowed Fordson's hustling squad to take an 18-4 lead after one period and extend it to an insurmountable 43-6 halftime margin.

Wayne could only muster two field goals in the first quarter and two points in the second period. The loss dropped Wayne to 4-3 overall and 2-1 in the Great Lakes Eight.

"No one was hustling on our ballclub — and I mean no one," Schwartz said openly. "We had an opportunity to gain on the other contenders, Monroe and Wyandotte, who lost — but we didn't have anyone who wanted to play until the second half."

"We outplayed Fordson in the second half, outscoring them 11-6 in the third period and 19-15 in the fourth quarter, but you don't win games by only hustling one half of the game."

Schwartz had to discipline one of his starters for missing practice during the holidays and said there may be other changes in the starting line-up, depending on who hustles and wants to play ball.

Bob Brusco led Fordson with 22

Stebbins had nine points and 10 rebounds for Franklin, who sank to 4-3 overall and 1-2 in the Northwest Suburban League.

The veteran McIntyre thought there was ample opportunity for his team to score even though his top point-maker, Wojcik, was muzzled.

"Wojcik didn't free-up for shots as much as we would have liked, but we expected Glenn to concentrate on him so we devised other scoring plans," the Franklin mentor pointed out. "However, we missed some easy shots early in the game, and especially a lay-up just before the half that could have made a big difference in the game."

Canton stalls by Mott

Canton's score-keeper should only receive part-time pay for Friday night's game.

The Chiefs of Craig Bell played a drastically slowed-down version of basketball before eking out a 29-28 win over Waterford Mott in Western Six League action.

Usually a team will use slow-down tactics to offset the superior speed of an opponent, but Bell said he used the unusual style of play because his team had lost three nights earlier by committing mental errors and sloppy floor play.

"Plus our best scorer, Sean Houle, was out with the flu and we had to go to the more deliberate style of play. I was very disappointed that we lost 54-52 to Farmington Harrison three nights earlier, a game I felt we definitely should have won," Bell said.

"I was determined that we would not beat ourselves again, so I opted to go to the slow style of play and it worked."

Canton, whose record rose to 5-3 overall and 2-1 in the Western Six, hosts Farmington Harrison, also 2-1, in league action tomorrow night after being idle Tuesday night.

In the Mott victory, it took two free throws by Dave Malek to finally seal the verdict after the score was tied 27-all with 45 seconds left. The Chiefs trailed 8-7 after one period to Mott, which sports a lowly 2-6 record and 1-2 in the Western Six League. However, Canton assumed an 18-12 intermission margin, opened it slightly to 24-18 after three quarters and finally won it on Malek's two charity tosses after Mott tied the slow-motion game 27-27 with 45 seconds left.

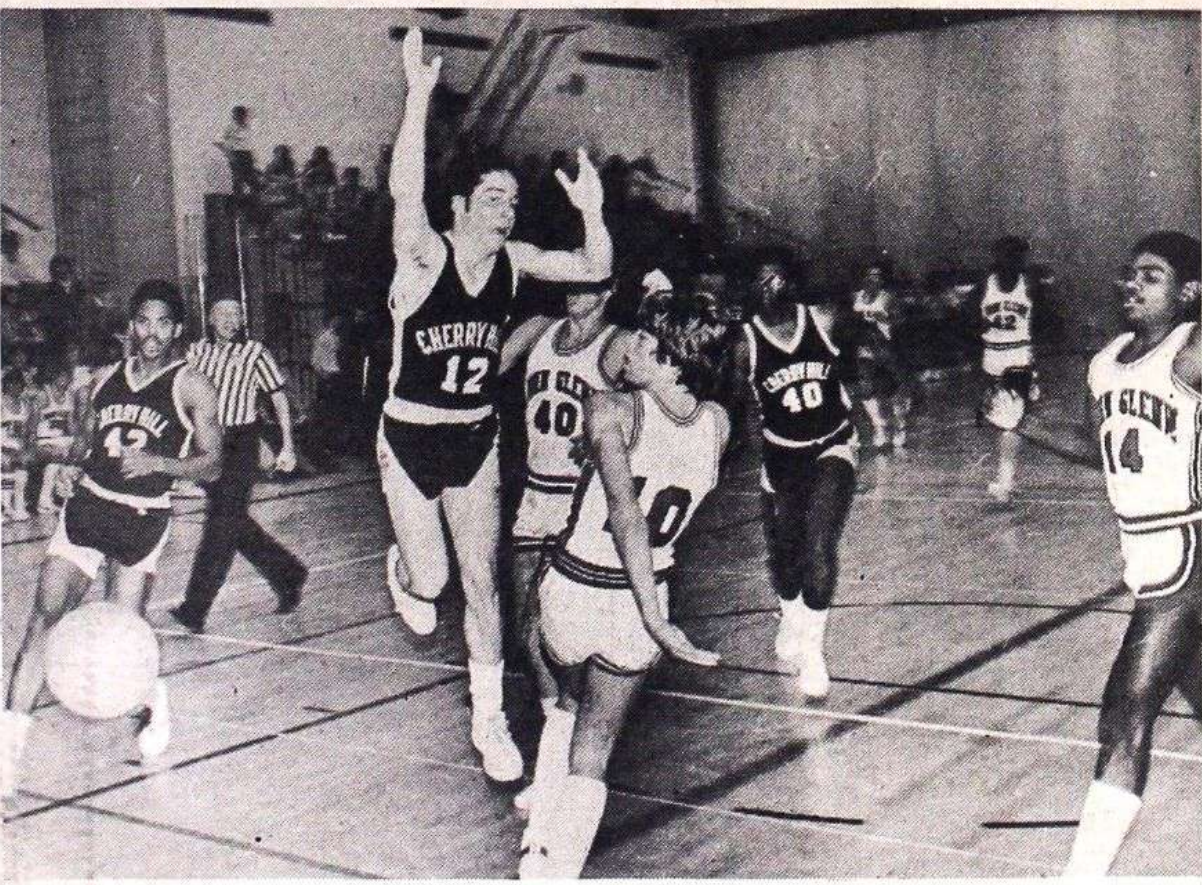

Canton stalled most of the final minute before Malek was fouled with 17 seconds left in the game and sank both for a 29-27 lead. Mott was not through yet. Pete Vartabedian was fouled and hit the first of a 1-and-1 with 11 seconds left on the clock.

However, he missed the second shot and a Mott player grabbed the rebound and threw up a shot that had Bell's heart leaping into his throat. The shot barely missed and Canton held on to win.

Malek led the slow-motion parade in scoring with 10 points and no one else on either team entered double figures. Tommie Harris added six markers and Matt Thomas had four free throws. Bell had high praise for all six who played in the game, but singled out Jim Mills for directing the Chiefs' attack after coming off the bench. Greatly missed was Sean Houle's 21 point average in Canton's scoring columns.

In the breakdown against Farmington, Canton led all the way until a disastrous fourth quarter spelled curtains. The Chiefs led 11-8, 29-24 and 42-36 after the first three buzzers before mental mistakes gave the host squad an 18-10 final period

Defensive gem

Guard Steve Hodges (10) of John Glenn isn't very big at 5-10, 150 pounds, but the scrappy senior plays "big" on the court with his hustle and aggressiveness. Here he knocks the ball away from Cherry Hill's Roy Mulholland (12) as the Spartan drives the lane for a lay-up. Fellow Spartans Darrel Ivey (42) and Gerald Lee (40) race up to help while guard Wes Whitner (14) and Rob Sisson (40) move into position to snare a rebound. Colorful Doc Kosteva, the veteran referee, stands ready to whistle any infractions in the hard-fought non-leaguer which Glenn won, 80-68. Glenn stands 2-1 in the Northwest Suburban League, one game behind 3-0 leader Redford Union, who the Rockets were scheduled to play Tuesday night. Meanwhile, Cherry Hill is all alone at the top of the Tri-River League with a perfect 3-0 slate. ANP photo by Lothar Konietzko.

ANP prep cage chart

The flu bug hit the Associated Newspapers' prep athletic community last week and some of the areas cagers found themselves side-lined.

But while some took medicines, others dished it out in the form of points scored against rivals. Cagers like Dave Ward, Westland John Glenn's senior forward, pumped in 38 points in the last two outings to move into the ninth spot in the standings.

And while the area's top scorer — Sean Houle (Plymouth Canton) was nursing the flu, Romulus's Bob Stewart climbed into second place as he collected 38 points in his last two games.

overall and 1-2 in the Western Six League. The Chargers were scheduled to host Garden City East in a non-league contest Tuesday night before hosting Walled Lake

Ron Reed, a 6-4 senior center, led Churchill in scoring with 16 points, the only Charger in double figures. Steve Shanbom, a 6-4 forward, did the most damage for Harrison by scoring 11 points and grabbing 17 rebounds. Teammate Steve Hollatz led the Hawks with a dozen points. Churchill's game plan was hurt by injury and foul trouble. Chris Harvath, a 6-3 forward, picked up several quick fouls and had to ride the bench much of the time before fouling out with 5:28 left in the game. Also, Kelsey Thayer, a starting guard who guides the Charger attack, had five stitches in the index finger of his left hand.

"Kelsey could only play 38 seconds of the first half and the second half," Albertson explained. "I didn't want to take a chance on playing him if we could help it, but we had to use him."

Albertson praised Walt Bour who started at guard for the first time, in place of Thayer. "He never played guard before and he committed only one turnover in the game. I think he did a marvelous job in being thrust into that position."

Albertson was upset with the poor shot selection of his players. "We took too many outside shots and didn't work the ball inside. We have the height to work inside and we're going to have to learn to take it inside to the big men, if we want to win," he said.

hustling, hard-fighting teams. Both teams deserved to win. Last year when we came to Glenn, we won in the last few seconds, so the games are always competitive."

After being idle Tuesday night, Glenn gears up for a showdown with NSL leader Redford Union, which currently sports a 3-0 mark.

Meanwhile, McIntyre's Franklin quintet tangled with non-league Farmington Tuesday before returning to conference play against Garden City East tomorrow night.

Glenn's second victory last week was a decisive 80-68 drubbing of Cherry Hill while Franklin edged cross-town Livonia Stevenson, 65-62. Senior Dave Ward had 16 points and 14 rebounds and Kevin Thweatt added 12 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as the Rockets controlled the boards against the Spartans in the non-league tussle.

Glenn's 26-11 surge in the third period settled the issue even though Ken Winfrey pumped in 16 markers for Cherry Hill, who fell to 4-3 after the loss.

Franklin was sparked by Wojcik's 26 points against Stevenson, with eight vital markers coming in the decisive fourth quarter. Forward Bill Keyes had an outstanding night for Stevenson with 31 points in a losing cause.

always strong Ypsilanti, Thomann played a deliberate game to negate the Braves' superior quickness and speed. The maneuver worked with success for the most part but the visitors led almost the entire game before winning the non-league tilt.

Ypsilanti took a 12-8 first quarter lead and very little scoring in the second period left the visitors in front 19-14 at halftime. The scoring picked up a little in the second half with Ypsi leading 30-24 after three quarters before a 16-14 final period edge gave the Braves their fourth win in five starts.

Karl Addie and Keith Armstrong led the victors with 12 points apiece. Horton again was Salem's leading point-getter with 15 and Scott Bublin added six.

Stalling fuels cage controversy

maneuver when his team is ahead that he spreads four players into the four corners of the front court and one at the top of the key. The tactic has been used with great success by the Tar Heels and others — but it has usually been employed in the last four or five minutes of the game.

Now, however, some teams begin stalling before they leave the locker room.

Usually a team stalls to offset their opponent's superior speed or height. Coach Bell's reason for stalling — because of floor mistakes and mishandling of the ball by his guards — adds a new dimension to the slow motion methods of Dr. Naismith's game.

With all the slow-down tactics and lack of action, more and more people are calling for a "shot clock" in college and high school basketball games. Professional basketball uses a 24-second clock — that is, teams have nearly half a minute to get off a shot. They can't sit on the ball or just pass it back and forth while the clock runs out and the fans twiddle their thumbs.

North Carolina's Dean Smith — the "passing" fancy — vigorously defends the use of stall procedures and claims it takes a great talent to employ its use. Others say a "shot clock" in college and prep basketball would allow the use of limited stalling and yet not permit one squad to completely deflate the rubber sphere.

Of course, a shot clock in college and high school should be a lot more liberal — say perhaps 30 to 40 seconds, or maybe even longer. We have a lot of outstanding prep and college cage coaches in this area who could give real input into the subject and offer their experience and instruction.

I'm sure there are many coaches on both sides of the issue — some would not want a shot clock instituted, while other coaches would give anything for a limited time a quintet would have to shoot the ball.

One of the most disgusting things to me, personally, is the last two minutes of many football games. The team that's ahead flops on the ball for two or three straight downs while the other team, depleted of their time-outs, stands idly by and 80,000 fans watch the dying seconds tick off during the in-action.

I think the clock should stop after every play in the last two minutes of a football game, even running plays, unless one team is 15 or more points ahead.

But that's a different sport and another column.

In the meantime, we'd like to hear from fans and coaches to see how you feel about putting a "shot clock" into high school and college basketball games.

And no stalling, either!

South tankers swamp Parkers

South Junior High will get a chance to avenge last year's lone dual meet swim loss when Coach John Stosick's tankers travel to Monroe for their second meet of the season on Jan. 20.

South launched the year with a 114-54 victory over Lincoln Park Huff as Stosick's swimmers captured six out of a possible 11 first places.

"We look pretty good," said Stosick who began his eighth year as head coach. "However, most of the other teams in the area have also improved."

margin and the 2-point victory in non-league action.

Houle and Steve Tuttle each had 17 points and Matt Thomas added 10 for Canton, while guard Kevin Nichols drilled in 17 points to top Farmington.

"We threw the ball away against Farmington, made mental errors and just plan beat ourselves," Bell explained. "I said it wouldn't happen again and we worked all week on our floor play — and it paid off."

CITY OF BELLEVILLE - ORDINANCE NO. 81-208

ORDINANCE NO. 81-208
AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE CABLE TELEVISION SYSTEMS IN THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE; TO ESTABLISH RULES APPLICABLE BETWEEN SUBSCRIBERS AND CABLE TELEVISION COMPANIES FOR CABLE TELEVISION SERVICES; TO REQUIRE A FRANCHISE FOR CABLE TELEVISION SERVICE AND TO ESTABLISH FEES, CONDITIONS, REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES FOR OBTAINING A FRANCHISE; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF RATES FOR SERVICES AND PROCEDURES TO VARY RATES; TO ESTABLISH PROCEDURES AND REGULATIONS RELATING TO TERMINATION, REVOCATION, SURRENDER AND RENEWAL OF FRANCHISES; TO ESTABLISH A CABLE TELEVISION COMMISSION; TO ESTABLISH PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE.
THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ORDAINS:

ARTICLE I TITLE AND PURPOSE

SECTION 1.1 Short Title. This Ordinance shall be known as the "City of Belleville Cable Television Franchise".

SECTION 1.2 Declaration of Purpose. The purpose of the Cable Television Franchise Ordinance is to provide fair regulation of cable television service in the City of Belleville in the interest of the public; to promote and encourage adequate, economical and efficient cable television service, and communication to the residents of the City of Belleville; to promote and to encourage harmony between cable television companies and their subscribers and to provide for the furnishing of cable television system service to the residents of the City of Belleville without unjust discrimination, undue preferences or advantages.

ARTICLE II DEFINITIONS

SECTION 2.1 Definitions. For the purpose of this Ordinance, the following terms, phrases, words and their derivatives shall have the meaning given herein. When not inconsistent with the context, words used in the present tense include the future, words in the plural number include the singular number, and words in the singular number include the plural number.

SECTION 2.2 The words "Cable Television System" or "CATV System" shall mean a system of antennas, cables, wires, lines, towers, waveguides, or other conductors, converters, equipment or facilities, designed and constructed for the purpose of producing, receiving, transmitting, amplifying and distributing, audio, video and other forms of electronic or electrical signals, located in the City. Said definition shall not include any such facility that serves or will serve only subscribers in one or more multiple unit dwellings under common ownership, control or management, and does not use City rights-of-way.

SECTION 2.3 The word "City" is the City of Belleville, Wayne County, State of Michigan.

SECTION 2.4 The word "Company" shall mean any person who owns, controls, operates or manages a cable television system for the purpose of providing cable television service to members of the public located in the City of Belleville except that such definition shall not include:

- a. a telephone, telegraph or electric utility in a case where it merely leases or rents to a cable communications company utility pole contact space for the placing thereon of wire or cable facilities used in the distribution of television or other signals to the subscribers of such cable communications company or;
- b. a telephone or telegraph utility regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission or Federal Communications Commission in a case where it merely provides communication channel service under published tariffs to a cable television company for the distribution of television signals to the subscribers of such company.

SECTION 2.5 The word "Council" is the City Council of the City of Belleville.

SECTION 2.6 The words "Federal Communications Commission" shall mean the federal agency constituted by the Communications Act of 1924 as amended, and may be referred to as the FCC.

SECTION 2.7 The word "franchise" shall mean the nonexclusive right for the operation of a community television and communication distribution system in the City.

SECTION 2.8 The word "Franchisee" shall mean the company granted a franchise pursuant to this Ordinance.

SECTION 2.9 The words "Gross Revenues" shall mean all revenues derived directly or indirectly by the Company, its affiliates, subsidiaries, parent, and any person in which the Company has a financial interest, from providing cable television services within the City, including, but not limited to, basic subscriber service monthly fees, pay cable fees, installation and reconnection fees, leased channel fees, converter rentals, studio rental, production equipment and personnel fees, and advertising revenues; provided, however, that this shall not include any taxes on services furnished by the Company herein imposed directly upon any subscriber or user by the state, local or other governmental unit and collected by the Company on behalf of said governmental unit, nor shall it include any other pass-through revenue collected on behalf of any third party.

SECTION 2.10 The words "Initial Service Area" shall include all current dwelling units within the City and those which have been approved as of the initial construction date provided for herein, together with any subdivision which has been approved as of the initial construction date as provided for herein.

SECTION 2.11 The word "Installation" shall mean the connection of the system from feeder cable to subscribers' terminals.

SECTION 2.12 The word "Person" shall mean any one or more individuals, firms, corporation, association, partnership or organization of any kind, and any combination thereof.

SECTION 2.13 The words "Regular Subscriber Service" shall mean all subscriber services provided by the Company, including the delivery of broadcast signals, covered by the regular monthly charge paid by all subscribers, excluding optional or premium services for which a separate charge is made.

SECTION 2.14 The word "Street" shall mean the surface of and the space above and below any public street, road, highway, freeway, lane, path, public way or place, alley, court, sidewalk, boulevard, parkway, drive or other easement now or hereafter held by the City for the purpose of public travel and shall include such other easements or right-of-way as shall be now held or hereafter held by the City which shall within their proper use and meaning entitle the City and its Company to the use thereof for the purpose of installing or transmitting cable transmissions over poles, wires, cables, conductors, ducts, conduits, vaults, manholes, amplifiers, appliances, attachments and other property as may be ordinarily necessary and pertinent to a cable system.

ARTICLE III FRANCHISE AND APPLICATION

SECTION 3.1 Franchise Required. No person shall construct, install, maintain or operate a cable television system in the City of Belleville, nor shall any person provide a cable television service in the City of Belleville without such person having first obtained a franchise therefor from the Council in the form of a franchise agreement between the City of Belleville and the Franchisee, which franchise agreement shall include, at a minimum, compliance with the specifications of this Ordinance.

- a. The specifications required by this Ordinance are minimum requirements of a franchise agreement. Additional requirements including, but not limited to, rates, charges, deposits, specifications regarding required interconnections, studios or other signal origination facilities, number of channels to be equipped and available for immediate use upon initial construction of the system use of channels by the City, schools and other education institutions, quality of community access, availability of equipment to users, required establishment and expansion of service area, other use of channels and other specifications or requirements of a cable television Franchisee or system may be established in the franchise agreement.

SECTION 3.2 Application. The application for such franchise to install, construct, maintain or operate a cable television system in the City of Belleville or to furnish a cable television service therein shall be made in writing to the council in such form as may be prescribed; shall include a description and map of the territory within the City of Belleville in which the cable television system is to be installed, constructed, maintained or operated or cable television service is to be provided; shall be accompanied by a showing of the applicant's legal, financial, technical and other qualifications to be a Franchisee, hereunder; and shall contain:

- a. in establishing legal qualifications, if other than a single individual, a certified copy of the partnership agreement, articles of association, or articles of incorporation, as the case may be, and also, if a foreign corporation, a certified copy of its authorization to do business in the State of Michigan; if a Michigan corporation, a list of all persons who own or have the right or option to acquire five percent (5 percent) or more of the issued stock of said corporation;

- b. in establishing financial qualifications, a copy of applicant's current compiled Statement of Income and Expenses together with the balance sheet as of the date not more than sixty (60) days prior to the date of the application shall be furnished; if a loan or other credit arrangement is to be consummated to finance the establishment and operation of the proposed facilities, full particulars relative thereto shall be disclosed, including the identity of the creditor;
- c. in establishing technical qualifications, a statement of the arrangements to ensure the rendition of good service, including the type and kind of facilities to be employed, the technical standards to be followed, the maintenance and repair facilities to be used, and the number and description of technical personnel, including copies of any contracts, agreements or arrangements relating to any of the above;
- d. a statement as to the location of the antenna site or sites, head-ends and/or microwave facilities to be used;
- e. the location of any places of business of organizations engaged in providing cable television service, or interlocking directorships or ownerships held by any owners, officers or directors of applicant with any other business engaged in providing cable television service;
- f. a detailed statement as to the arrangements and timetable by which applicant proposes to construct its cable television facilities and system including detailed description of portions of the City to be served by the system within one (1) year, eighteen (18) months, and two (2) years, of the granting a franchise by the City;
- g. the total number of channels to be offered;
- h. the signals to be carried initially from the following sources:
 - (1) Local off-air
 - (2) Imported off-air
 - (3) Local access
 - (4) Local educational
 - (5) Cable company generated
 - (6) Interconnections
 - (7) Satellite
 - (8) Other
- i. the potential for use by educational institutions, community groups, householders, and local commercial interests, including a statement of policy regarding local access procedures;
- j. projected development of customer and community services, indicating priorities in development and estimated schedules therefor;
- k. a statement of policy regarding interconnection specifying initial operation interconnections;
- l. a map designating those areas of the City to be serviced by the system.
- m. the extent of operational bi-directional signals on the initial system and projected timetables for expansion of bi-directional services;
- n. a complete description of any equipment to be furnished the City and/or Schools (public and private) including costs, useful life, and relationship to other equipment furnished or required;
- o. a description of cable-company-owned studio and remote equipment to be used for program purposes, the location of same, and a statement of policy regarding use and scheduling;
- p. costs estimates of development, installation and maintenance of the system. This item shall be deemed to include the proposed cost of acquisition of the system, if approval of a transfer of the franchise has been requested under the Ordinance.
- q. revenue forecasts for the next five (5) years of service; projected level of employment;
- r. a proposed schedule of rates for installation charges, monthly service fees and relocation charges; such other information as the City may request.

SECTION 3.3 APPLICATION FEE. At the time the application is filed with the City a fee in the amount of Two Thousand Five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars shall be paid to the City Treasurer. The application fee shall be refunded if the applicant is not given a Franchise Agreement.

SECTION 3.4 COUNCIL ACTION. Upon the filing of such an application and the payment of the fee as prescribed, the council shall consider the application and may request such additional information as it may deem necessary to establish the legal, financial, technical and other qualifications of the applicant to provide a cable television service in the City of Belleville.

City of Belleville.

- a. If the council determines that the applicant possesses the necessary qualifications, legal, financial, technical and otherwise, to reasonably assure applicant's ability to satisfactorily install, construct, maintain or operate a cable television system or to furnish a cable television service to the public in the City of Belleville, the council may issue the applicant a nonexclusive franchise in the City of Belleville.
- b. In determining whether such a franchise shall be issued, the council shall take into consideration, among other things, the technical qualifications of the applicant; the ability of applicant to efficiently perform the service for which the franchise is requested, including the prior experience, if any, of the applicant in providing cable television systems or furnishing cable television service; the proposed rate schedule; the nature and scope of the applicant's proposed system; the timetables for development of applicant's proposed system; the quality of proposed programming; and the potential for service development that is beneficial to the residents of the City.

SECTION 3.5 Rights and Privileges. Upon receipt of a franchise, the Company shall have the right and privilege to construct, erect, operate and maintain in, upon, along, across, above, over or under the streets, alleys, public utility easements, public ways and public places now laid out or dedicated and all extensions thereof and additions thereto in the City, all poles, wires, cables, underground conduits, manholes and other conductors and fixtures necessary for the maintenance and operation in the City of a cable television system for the transmission of television signals and all other signals permitted by the FCC, either separately or upon or in conjunction with any public utility maintaining the same in the City, with all of the necessary and desirable appliances and appurtenances pertaining thereto. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, this franchise and grant shall and does hereby include the right in, over, under and upon the streets, sidewalks, alleys, public utility easements and public grounds and places in the City to install, erect, operate or in any way acquire the use of, as by leasing or licensing, all lines and equipment necessary to a cable television system and the right to make connections to subscribers and the right to repair, replace, enlarge and extend such lines, equipment and connections. The rights herein granted for the purposes herein set forth shall not be exclusive, and the City reserves the right to grant a similar use of such streets, alleys, public utility easements, public ways and places to any person at any time during the period of this franchise, PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that nothing contained herein shall be deemed to require the granting of additional cable television franchises if, in the opinion of the City Council, it is in the public interests to restrict such franchises to one or more.

SECTION 3.6 Agreement and Incorporation of Application by Reference. Upon awarding of the franchise and the execution of the Agreement by Franchisee, Franchisee agrees to be bound by all of the terms and conditions contained in this Ordinance.

The Company also agrees to provide all services specifically set forth in its application and proposal to provide cable television service within the confines of the City, and by its acceptance of the franchise, the Franchisee specifically agrees that its application is incorporated by reference and made a part of the franchise agreement. In the event of a conflict between such proposals and the provisions of this Ordinance, the provision which provides the greatest benefit to the City, in the opinion of the City Council, shall prevail.

SECTION 3.7 Compliance With All Applicable Laws and Ordinances. Franchisee shall at all times during the life of the franchise be bound by all the terms and conditions contained in this Ordinance and be subject to the lawful exercise of the police power of the City and to such regulations as the Council shall hereinafter provide, and shall comply with all applicable state and federal regulations including, without limitation, the provisions of Section 14 of Act No. 368 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended, being Section 247.184 of the Compiled Laws of the State of Michigan, concerning obtaining any necessary consents from the Board of County Road Commissioners and/or the State Highway Commissioners. Said regulations shall expressly include a rule prohibiting the use of City streets or alleys for the installation of additional utility poles or where the utilities are presently underground, prohibit the use of additional conduit, to be used solely by the CATV Company. Also, in the event that the utilities go underground in the future, the CATV System shall be reinstalled underground. In the event the CATV System has not been installed, it shall be installed underground.

SECTION 3.8 Duration and Acceptance of Franchise. The franchise and the rights, privileges and authority granted shall take effect and be in force from and after final passage of the franchise as provided by law, and shall continue in force and effect for a term of fifteen (15) years, provided that within sixty (60) days after the date of final passage of the franchise, the applicant shall execute a Franchise Agreement which shall contain its unconditional acceptance of the franchise and promise to comply with and abide by all of its provisions, terms and conditions and all of the provisions, terms, and conditions of this Ordinance as they may be from time to time amended, changed, added to, or repealed. Such acceptance and promise shall be in writing duly executed and sworn to, by or on behalf of the Franchisee before a notary public or other office authorized by law to administer oaths.

SECTION 3.9 Franchise Renewal. The franchise may be renewed by the City upon application of the Franchisee pursuant to the procedure herein established and in accordance with the then applicable law:

- a. At least six (6) months prior to the expiration of the franchise, Company shall inform the City in writing of its intent to seek renewal of the franchise.
- b. After giving public notice and conducting a full, open and public hearing, the City shall proceed to determine whether the Company has satisfactorily performed its obligations under the franchise. To determine satisfactory performance, the City shall consider technical developments and performance of the system, programming, other services offered, cost of services, and any other particular requirements set forth in the ordinance; also, the City shall consider the Company's annual reports made to the City and the FCC; industry performance on a national basis shall also be considered. Provision shall be made for public comment. Renewal shall not be unreasonably denied, and should be granted unless the Company is found to be unequal to continue operation of this cable television system because of breach of ordinance conditions, poor service, insolvency, fraud, or other lawful reason.
- c. If the City finds the Company's performance satisfactory, a new franchise may be granted pursuant to the ordinance as amended for an additional period of fifteen (15) years. Subsequent renewal for fifteen (15) year periods may be applied for by Company in accordance with procedure outlined in Section 7.
- d. Should the City, for any reason, be unable to complete the renewal proceeding prior to expiration of this franchise, the Company shall have the right to continue operation of its cable television system pursuant to the terms of this franchise until such time as the renewal proceeding is concluded.
- e. Should the City deny renewal of this franchise, such denial shall be accompanied by a written statement setting forth the reasons for the denial. The Company shall have the right to request review of any such denial by a court of competent jurisdiction. In the event that renewal is not requested, or is denied, and such denial is affirmed by a judicial order should the company seek review of such denial, the City shall have the right to purchase the cable television system at a price not to exceed its fair market value. Fair market value shall be determined by actual value of wires and electronics. No consideration shall be given to goodwill, future profits or business interruptions. Should a dispute arise as to fair market value, the dispute shall be resolved by arbitration or judicial determination. Furthermore, in the event that the City denies renewal, subject to judicial review, and declines to exercise its right of purchase as herein provided, the Company shall be afforded a period of not more than twelve (12) months following such denial, and judicial review, if sought, within which to sell, transfer, or convey its cable television system to a qualified purchaser at fair market value which purchaser shall be subject to approval by the Council. During this twelve (12) month period, which shall run from the effective date of the decision denying renewal, or order of the Court, if sought, the Company shall have the right to operate its cable television system pursuant to the terms of this franchise. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that the Company is not otherwise in default of the terms of this Ordinance.

- f. In the event the City determines not to renew the franchise, and declines to exercise its right of purchase as provided for herein, and at the expiration of the twelve (12) month period set forth above, the City may seek and evaluate applicants and a franchise may be awarded by the City.

SECTION 3.10 Territory Involved. The franchise extends throughout the present territorial limits of the City and to any other area henceforth annexed to or otherwise added to said City during the terms of the franchise and service rendered by the Franchisee shall be made available to all inhabitants of the City who may desire service.

SECTION 3.11 Transmission Line Placement. The poles used by Franchisee's transmission and distribution system, wires and appurtenances shall be located, erected and maintained on existing utility facilities where possible, and Franchisee shall go underground when all utilities do, but not necessarily in the utility facilities.

SECTION 3.12 Police Powers. In accepting the franchise, the Franchisee acknowledges that its rights are subject to the City Charter and the police power of the City to adopt and enforce general ordinances necessary to the safety and welfare of the public; and it agrees to comply with the Charter and all applicable general laws and ordinances enacted by the City pursuant to such power.

Any conflict between the provisions of this Ordinance and the franchise and any other present or future lawful exercise of the City's police powers shall be resolved in favor of the latter.

SECTION 3.13 Revocation of Franchise. Any violation by Franchisee of the provisions of this Ordinance or the Franchise Agreement, or the failure to properly perform any of the conditions or terms hereof, and not remedy such breach within sixty (60) days after having received written notice from the City to do so, shall be cause for the revocation of the franchise and all rights thereunder. The City Clerk shall report such known noncompliance in writing to the Council and, upon due notice to the Franchisee and opportunity to be heard on the charge of noncompliance, the Council may revoke such franchise.

ARTICLE IV FRANCHISE FEE

SECTION 4.1 Franchise Fee. For the reason that the streets of the City to be used by the Franchisee in the operation of its system within the boundaries of the City are valuable public properties acquired and maintained by the City at great expense to its taxpayers, and that the grant to the Franchisee to the said streets is a valuable property right without which the Franchisee would be required to invest substantial capital in right-of-way costs and acquisitions, the Franchisee shall pay to the City an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the Franchisee's gross annual revenues per year [payable monthly] from all sources attributable to the operations of the Franchisee within the confines of the City, or reasonably related to service rendered within the City. In the event that it is determined that FCC lacks jurisdiction to impose a limitation on franchisee fees, or that the limit is raised, then the franchisee fee will be subject to renegotiation.

SECTION 4.2 Taxes. This payment shall be in addition to any other tax or payment owed to the City by the Franchisee.

SECTION 4.3 Payment. Such franchise fee shall be payable on the 15th day of each month following the month for which it is payable. No license fees or taxes levied upon the Franchisee by the City shall be credited against the payment required herein. The Franchisee shall file a complete and accurate verified statement of all gross revenues covering the month for which said payment is made.

SECTION 4.4 Delinquent Payment. In the event that any franchise payment or recomputed amount, costs of penalty, is not made on or before the applicable dates heretofore specified, interest shall be charged daily from such date at the annual rate of twelve percent (12%) or prime rate, whichever is greater.

SECTION 4.5 Audit. The City shall have the right to inspect the Franchisee's income records and the right to audit and to recompute any amounts determined to be payable under this Ordinance; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that such audit shall take place within thirty-six (36) months following the close of each of the Franchisee's fiscal years. Any additional amount due to the City as a result of the audit shall be paid within thirty (30) days following written notice to the Franchisee by the City which notice shall include a copy of the audit report. If, as a result of such audit, it is determined that an additional amount is due to the City, which amount constitutes ten (10%) per cent or more of the amount originally paid by the Franchisee to the City, then the Franchisee shall pay all costs incurred by the City in conducting the audit.

SECTION 4.6 Availability of Books and Records. The Franchisee shall fully cooperate in making available at reasonable times, the opportunity for the City to inspect the books, records, maps, plans and other like materials of the Franchisee applicable to the system, at any time during normal business hours, provided where volume and convenience necessitate, the Franchisee may require inspection to take place on the Franchisee's premises.

SECTION 4.7 Other Petitions and Applications. Copies of all petitions, applications, communications and reports submitted by the Franchisee to the Federal Communications Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, or any other federal or state regulatory commission or agency having jurisdiction in respect to any matters affecting cable television operations authorized pursuant to the franchise, shall be provided simultaneously to the City.

SECTION 4.8 Fiscal Reports. The Franchisee shall file annually with the City Treasurer, no later than one hundred twenty (120) days after the end of the Franchisee's fiscal year, a copy of a financial report applicable to the system including an income statement applicable to its operations during the preceding twelve (12) month period, a balance sheet, and a statement of its properties devoted to Belleville system operations, by categories, giving its investment in such properties on the basis of original cost, less applicable depreciation. These records shall be certified as correct by an authorized officer of the Franchisee and there shall be submitted along with them such other reasonable information as the City shall request with respect to the Franchisee's properties and expenses related to its system operations within the City.

ARTICLE V ADVISORY COMMISSION

SECTION 5.1 Belleville Cable Television Programming Advisory Commission. The Council may create a cable television programming advisory commission consisting of seven (7) members representative of the City's population, which shall be appointed by the Mayor with the consent of the Council. Such Commission shall be organized in such a manner as to represent the major areas of community interest including, but not limited to human relations, religion, recreation, civic and community service, government, education, senior citizens, service organizations, and the arts. After the creation and appointment of such Commission, the Franchisee shall pay to the City, in addition to the franchise fee otherwise provided in this Ordinance, an amount of money equal to one (1 percent) percent of its gross revenues which fee may be used by the City for development of public access programming and for expenses incidental to the Commission's work. Such fee shall be paid at the same time as the franchise fee provided for herein to commence with the first franchise fee payment due after the Company's system is operational throughout the initial service area.

ARTICLE VI INSURANCE AND INDEMNIFICATION

SECTION 6.1 Performance Bond. Within thirty (30) days after the award of the franchise, the Franchisee shall file with the City a Performance Bond in the amount of Five Hundred Thousand ($500,000.00) Dollars in favor of the City. This Bond shall be maintained throughout the construction period and for ninety (90) days subsequent to the completion of the initial service area. Such Bond shall be written by a responsible corporate surety approved by the Council upon the recommendation of the City Attorney.

- In the event the franchise fails to comply with any law, ordinance or regulation governing the franchise, or fails to well and truly observe, fulfill and perform each term and condition of the franchise, including the Franchisee's proposal, there shall be recoverable, jointly and severally, from the principal and surety of the Bond, any damages or less suffered by the City as a result, including the full amount of any compensation, indemnification, or cost of removal or abandonment of any property of the Franchisee, plus a reasonable allowance for attorney's fees, including the City's legal staff, and costs, up to the full amount of the Bond. This Section shall be an additional remedy for any and all violations outlined in this Ordinance.
- The City may require a Performance Bond to be posted by the Franchisee for any construction subsequent to the completion of the initial service areas, in a reasonable amount and upon such terms as determined by the Council.
- The Bond shall contain the following endorsement:
"It is hereby understood and agreed that this Bond may not be cancelled by the surety nor the intention not to renew be stated by the surety until sixty (60) days after receipt by the City of Belleville, Michigan, by registered mail, of a written notice of such intent to cancel or not to renew."

SECTION 6.2 Liability and Insurance. The Franchisee shall maintain, and by its acceptance of the franchise specifically agrees, that it will maintain throughout the term of the franchise, insurance insuring the City and the Franchisee in the minimum amount of:

- Workers' Compensation: as required by all applicable Federal, State, Maritime or other laws including employer's liability with a limit of at least $100,000.
- Company's Liability: each occurrence $200,000; aggregate $500,000.
- Comprehensive General Liability: bodily injury, each person $500,000 and each occurrence $1,000,000; property damage, each accident $300,000 and aggregate $500,000.
- Comprehensive Automobile Liability: including nonownership and hired car coverage as well as owned vehicles with minimum limits as follows: bodily injury for each person $500,000 and each occurrence $1,000,000; property damage for each occurrence $100,000.
- The insurance policies obtained by the Franchisee in compliance with this Section must be approved by the City Attorney and such insurance policies, along with written evidence of payment of required premiums, shall be filed and maintained with the City Clerk during the term of this franchise, and may be changed from time to time to reflect changing liability limits. The Franchisee shall immediately advise the City Attorney in writing of any claim or litigation that may develop that would affect this insurance, and the City shall immediately notify the Franchisee in writing of any claim or litigation arising out of this franchise.
- Neither the provisions of this Section nor any damages recovered by the City thereunder, shall be construed to or limit the liability of the Franchisee under any franchise issued hereunder or for damages.
- All insurance policies maintained pursuant to the franchise shall name the City as co-insured and contain the following endorsement:
"It is hereby understood and agreed that this insurance policy may not be cancelled by the surety nor the intention not to renew be stated by the surety until thirty (30) days after receipt by the City of Belleville, Michigan, by registered mail, of a written notice of such intention to cancel or not to renew."

SECTION 6.3 Indemnification. The Franchisee shall, at its sole cost and expense, fully indemnify, defend and hold harmless the City, its officers, boards, commission and employees against any and all claims, suits, actions liability and judgments for damages (including but not limited to expenses for reasonable legal fees and disbursements and liabilities assumed by the City in connection therewith):

- To persons or property, in any way arising out of or through the acts or omissions of the Franchisee, its servants, agents or employees, or to which the Franchisee's negligence shall in any way contribute; and for

- Arising out of any claim for invasion of the right of privacy, for defamation of any person, firm or corporation, or the violation or infringement of any copyright, trademark, trade name, service mark or patent, or of any other right of any person, firm or corporation (excluding claims arising out of or relating to City programming); and for
- Arising out of the Franchisee's failure to comply with the provisions of any federal, state or local statute, ordinance or regulation applicable to the Franchisee in its business hereunder.

- The foregoing indemnity is conditioned upon the following: The City shall give the Franchisee prompt notice of the making of any claim of the commencement of any action, suit or other proceeding covered by the provisions of this Section. Nothing herein shall be deemed to prevent the City from cooperating with the Franchisee and participating in the defense of any litigation by its own counsel at its sole cost and expense.

ARTICLE VII GENERAL SYSTEM STANDARDS

SECTION 7.1 General System Standards The Franchisee shall establish, construct, operate, and maintain the System in accordance with the highest standards of the art of cable television and in accordance with the highest standards of code of conduct with respect to business of size and type like that of the Franchisee.

- The Franchisee through the System shall provide effective and efficient service in accordance with the rules and regulations of all governmental units and agencies having regulatory and licensing authority in connection with the System.
- The Franchisee through the System shall provide uniform, strong signals which are free from distortion and interference.
- The Franchisee shall not interrupt all or any part of the services of the System in the absence of absolute need or emergency circumstances.
- The Franchisee shall establish, construct, operate, and maintain the System, including System Facilities, so as to at all times meet FCC technical standards, including without limitation specifications for frequency boundaries, visual carriers, frequency levels, aural carrier frequency levels, channel frequency response, terminal isolation, and radiation.
- The Franchisee shall establish, construct, operate, and maintain the System in accordance with all applicable national, state, and local building and safety codes. In the absence of any otherwise applicable building and safety code, the Franchisee shall establish, construct, operate and maintain the System in accordance with the most recent edition of the National Electrical Safety Code and the National Electrical Code.
- Without limiting the provisions of this Ordinance, the Franchisee shall establish, construct, operate, and maintain the System in accordance with any proposals or representations made to the City Authorities. A copy of the Company's proposal to the City will be incorporated by reference in the Franchise Agreement.
- The System shall be designed, established, constructed, operated, and maintained for 24-hour-a-day continuous operation.
- The System shall produce for receipt on Subscribers' receivers, which are in good working order, either monochrome or color pictures (providing the receiver is color capable) that are free from any significant interference, distortion, or ghosting which would cause any material degradation of video or audio quality.
- The System shall be capable of providing emergency override alerts whereby the City or other governmental units or agencies designated may be able to issue a bulletin on all channels simultaneously.
- In connection with the System, the Franchisee shall only employ personnel with necessary and sufficient skills and experience or training as such shall relate to their respective jobs and positions.
- The Franchisee shall not be liable for interruption in service caused by strikes, war, civil commotion, Acts of God, and other causes beyond the control of the Company.

SECTION 7.2 Use of City Streets. All System facilities erected, constructed, or placed by the Franchisee within the City shall be located so as not to interfere with the proper use of streets, alleys, and other public ways and places, and to cause minimum interference with the rights or reasonable convenience of property owners who adjoin any of the said streets, alleys, or other public ways and places, and not to interfere with existing public utility installations. All service lines shall be underground in those areas of the City where both public utilities providing telephone or electric service are underground at the time of installation. In areas where telephone or electric utility facilities are above ground at the time of installation, the Franchisee may install its service above ground. If, subsequently, the telephone or electric utility facilities go underground, the affected facilities of the Franchisee shall go underground simultaneously.

- In case of any disturbance of pavement, sidewalk, driveway, or other surfacing, the Franchisee shall, at its own expense, and in the manner required by the City ordinances or policies, replace and restore all paving, sidewalk, driveway or other surface of any street or alley disturbed. In case of any disturbance on either private or public property, the land surface, including plantings and trees, shall be restored by the Franchisee to substantially its previous condition.
- If at any time during the period of the franchise the City shall lawfully elect to alter, or change the grade or location of any street, alley or other public way, the Franchisee shall upon reasonable notice by the City, remove, relay and relocate affected System facilities at its own expense, and in each instance comply with the requirements of the City.
- The Franchisee shall not place System facilities above or below ground where the same will interfere with any gas, electric, telephone fixtures, water hydrants or other utility, and all such poles, conduits or other fixtures placed in any street shall be so placed as to comply with all ordinances of the City.
- The Franchisee may be required by the City to permit joint use of its System facilities located in the streets, alleys, or other public right of way of the City by utilities insofar as such joint use may be reasonably practicable and upon payment of reasonable rental therefor; provided that in the absence of agreement regarding such joint use, the Corporate Authorities shall provide arbitration of the terms and conditions of such joint use and the compensation to be paid therefrom, which award shall be final.
- The Franchisee shall, on request of any person holding a moving permit issued by the City, temporarily move affected System facilities to permit the moving of buildings, the expense of such temporary removal to be paid by the person requesting such removal, and the Company shall be given not less than forty-eight (48) hours advance notice to arrange for such temporary changes.
- The Franchisee shall have the authority, except when in conflict with existing City ordinances, to trim any trees upon and overhanging public right of way so as to prevent the branches of such trees from coming in contact with System facilities, except that at the option of the City such trimmings may be done by it, or under its supervision and direction, at the expense of the Franchisee.
- The City shall have the right to install and maintain free of charge upon the property of the Company its own equipment, including but not limited to, a police and fire system and emergency services disaster agency, on the condition that such equipment does not interfere with the Franchisee's establishment, construction, operation, and maintenance of the System.
- If the Franchisee seeks to construct and maintain its cables and other System facilities on or above public or private property, and an easement for such use has already been granted to a telephone company, electric or other public utility, said easement shall, if at all possible, be interpreted so as to grant the Franchisee the same rights and privileges as have been granted to the telephone and electric companies and other public utilities. In such easements, the words "telephone" or "telephone company", "electric company" and the like, shall be interpreted to include the Franchisee. The Franchisee shall not be required to install cable to service areas where the required easements are not reasonably obtainable.

SECTION 7.3 Channel Capacity. The cable television system to be installed shall be two way operational and have at least forty (40) channel capability. Company will install and maintain a cable television system in keeping with latest state-of-the-art technology including the capability for satellite reception. The CATV System will be equipped with a backup for electrical failure with standby power supplies. Specifically included in said channel shall be separate channels each devoted to one of the following locally - originated services: time/ weather; community educational; governmental affairs; all to be dedicated for the exclusive use of the community.

ARTICLE VIII MISCELLANEOUS

SECTION 8.1 Transfer of Ownership or Control. The franchise shall not be assigned or transferred, either in whole or in part, or leased, sublet, or mortgaged in any manner, nor shall title thereof, either legal or equitable or any right, interest, or property therein, pass to or vest in any person without the prior written consent of the City. The Franchisee may, however, transfer or assign the franchise to a wholly-owned subsidiary and such subsidiary may transfer or assign the franchise back to the Franchisee without such consent but notice of such transfer or assignment shall be given, in writing, to the City. The proposed assignee must show financial responsibility as determined by the City and must agree to comply with all provisions of the franchise. The City shall be deemed to have consented to a proposed transfer or assignment in the event its refusal to consent is not communicated in writing to the Franchisee within sixty (60) days following receipt of written notice of the proposed transfer or assignment.

- The Franchisee shall promptly notify the City of any actual or proposed change in, or transfer of, or acquisition by any other party of, control of the Company. The word "control" as used herein is not limited to major stockholders but includes actual working control in whatever manner exercised. Every change, transfer or acquisition of control of the Franchisee shall make the franchise subject to cancellation or termination unless and until the City shall have consented thereto, which consent will not be unreasonably withheld. For the purpose of determining whether it shall consent to such change, transfer, or acquisition of control, the City may inquire into the qualifications of the prospective controlling party, and the Franchisee shall assist the City in any such inquiry.
- The consent or approval of the City to any transfer of the Franchisee shall not constitute a waiver of release of the rights of the City in and to the streets, and any transfer shall by its terms, be expressly subordinate to the terms and conditions of this franchise.
- In the absence of extraordinary circumstances, the City will not approve any transfer or assignment of the franchise prior to substantial completion of construction of the proposed system.
- In no event shall a transfer of ownership or control be approved without the successor in interest agreeing in writing to the terms of this Ordinance and the Franchise Agreement, and without the Franchisee paying all costs incurred by the City.

SECTION 8.2 Initial Rates; Request Timing; Determination of Authority. The rates for installation of equipment and regular subscriber services shall be nondiscriminatory and shall be proposed by the Franchisee and approved by the Council; provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be deemed to prohibit reasonable promotional rates which may, from time to time be less than the rates proposed and approved.

No increase in rates charged for installation of equipment and regular subscriber services as approved shall be made effective except as authorized by the City Council within ninety (90) days after public notice of the proposed increase is given by Franchisee to the Council which shall set forth the reasons for such requested increase, and after a full, open and public rate proceeding upon prior notice and opportunity of all interested parties to be heard; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that in the event that the Council does not grant or deny the proposed rate increase, in whole or in part, within the 90-day notice period, the proposed increase shall be deemed approved and shall be effective at the end of the 90-day notice period. Approval or disapproval by the Council of any rate increase proposed by Franchisee may be expressed by simple Resolution. A request for rate increase shall not be unreasonably denied, and any denial of a rate increase, in whole or in part, shall be accomplished by a written statement by the Council which shall set forth the reasons for denial. The Franchisee shall have the right to request review of the denial by any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Rates for services and equipment other than regular subscriber services shall be established and published by Franchisee pursuant to the rules of the Federal Communication Commission.

SECTION 8.3 Limitation of Services. Services performed pursuant to the franchise issued hereunder shall not include the performance of repairing, servicing, or selling television sets or television antennas, nor shall the Franchisee recommend service by any other person except for such time items as may be directly related to the cable installation and/or connection.

SECTION 8.4 Compliance with Rules and Standards as Adopted by FCC. The Franchisee shall comply fully with the rules and standards for the cable television operations as adopted by the FCC.

SECTION 8.5 Emergency Use of Facilities. In the case of any emergency or disaster, the Franchisee shall, upon request of the City, make available its facilities for emergency use during the duration of such emergency or disaster.

SECTION 8.6 Safety Requirements. The Franchisee shall at all times employ ordinary care and shall install and maintain in use commonly accepted methods and devices preventing failures and accidents which are likely to cause damage, injuries or nuisances to the public.

SECTION 8.7 Modification of FCC Rules. Consistent with the requirements of FCC Rule 76.31, any modification or amendment thereof by the FCC shall, to the extent applicable, be considered to be part of the franchise as of the effective date of such amendment, and shall be incorporated by specific amendment thereto within one (1) year from the effective date of the FCC's amendment or at the time of renewal of this franchise, whichever occurs first.

SECTION 8.8 Construction Timetable. Franchisee shall promptly and as soon as possible after the granting of the franchise described in this Ordinance apply to the FCC for all permission and authority necessary for the lawful operation of a CATV System. Franchisee shall exercise all reasonable efforts to complete in a workmanlike manner and in conformity with all applicable State, Federal, and City rules and regulations all construction of a CATV System within the City within twenty-four months or less from the date upon which it receives a Certificate of Compliance from the FCC. The Franchisee shall not be responsible for any delays in the progress of work due to labor disputes, fire, acts of God, unusual delay in transportation, unavoidable casualties, failure of other persons to meet properly their respective commitments, including, by way of example and not limitation, suppliers of essential services or goods, or any and all other causes beyond the Grantee's control.

SECTION 8.9 Local Origination Services. The Franchisee will maintain and operate a fully-equipped studio which will be capable of operation at remote locations. This studio will be located within the boundaries of the School District. A channel will be dedicated for the use of the School District and the local private schools.

SECTION 8.10 Other Services. The Franchisee will provide service to the City Hall, Fire Department, Police Department, Public and Private Schools, Public Library, and all other public buildings. This service is without charge to a single point of entry. Any additional and/or extensive wiring required, such as in a school building, should be on a cost basis only. In addition, the Franchisee will provide a Community Bulletin Board, weather information, cable guide listing various services, and an alpha-numeric display for the benefit of the impaired-hearing residents.

SECTION 8.11 Subsequent Franchises. Any benefits granted to municipalities and residents by Franchisee in presently and subsequently granted franchises and amendments thereto shall also inure to the benefit of the City and its residents in the same manner as though they were directly incorporated in this Ordinance.

SECTION 8.12 Prohibition of Discriminatory or Preferential Practice. The Franchisee shall not, as to rates, charges, service facilities, rules, regulations or in any other respect, make or grant preference or advantages to any person, or subject any person to any prejudices or disadvantages provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the establishment of service without charge to public or private educational institutions, and such public buildings or facilities as shall from time to time

Tigers' skid continues in Sub 8

Dearborn rally burns Belleville, 52-48

Belleville led Dearborn for more than three quarters Friday night before a fourth quarter let-down allowed the Tigers to snatch a 52-48 Suburban 8 League victory.

Dearborn exploded for a 20-11 scoring margin in the final period to undo all that Coach Tom Niemi's squad had managed to do in the first three quarters of the game.

The Tigers, playing on their home court, battled to an 11-11 first period score before assuming a 29-23 intermission lead. Dearborn's slight 9-8 third period edge left Belleville in front 37-32 before the roof caved in.

The disappointing loss dropped the Tigers to 0-4 in the league and 1-6 on the season. Dearborn, meanwhile, ran its record to 5-2.

Reggie Grantham, who led Belleville with 14 points, notched six of those in the first quarter to keep the Tigers even. Mike Sampson, who had nine points, managed six in the second stanza to help the Tigers carve out their six-point halftime margin.

Guard Dave Rucker got hot in the fourth frame with eight points to lead Dearborn's counter-attack. He finished with 13 for the night, teammate John Hollis led with 16 points and Bob Schedlich notched 10.

Grantham was the only Tiger in double scoring figures, but center Steve Peets grabbed 15 rebounds and Kevin Sanderson controlled 13 to give Belleville domination of the boards for most of the game.

In last week's other game, Belleville lost a heart-breaker to Romulus, 53-51, mainly on the strength of a horrendous two-point second period when the Tigers couldn't seem to buy a basket.

Belleville started even with their quick neighbors, carving out a 20-19 first period lead but someone put a lid on the basket as the Tigers got only two points in the second quarter to the Eagles' 13.

Coach Al Wilkerson's Romulus quintet was outscored 29-21 in the second half, but its 34-22 halftime margin withstood the furious Belleville rally.

Reggie Grantham led Belleville with 17 points and Sampson added 14. Romulus' victory was paced by the 20-point effort of Bob Stewart, nine rebounds by Patrick Bell and eight caroms by Bill Miller.

Kevin Sanderson had 11 rebounds for the Tigers and Peets grabbed eight in the non-league tussle.

Belleville was scheduled to tangle with Allen Park Tuesday night as the Tigers still search for their first Sub 8 League win and the Tigers should come away with a victory against the Jaguars. On Friday Belleville hosts Trenton in another conference game.

Clemens throttles Romulus

Romulus had two of its first six players out of the lineup with illness Friday but the Eagles still battled powerful Mount Clemens right down to the wire before dropping a 70-62 decision.

"I thought our boys played very hard and without starter Pat Bell and sixth man Jessie Davis, it was hard to stay with Mount Clemens, who has a real good team," Coach Al Wilkerson said.

"You know, Mt. Clemens was only beaten by five points by Highland Park earlier in the week and Highland Park is a state-ranked power."

Romulus got off to a slow start in the first period and could not overcome the deficit. Mt. Clemens jumped to a 16-10 first quarter bulge and widened it to 36-27 at intermission. The Eagles outscored their visitors 17-16 and 18-17 in the last two periods, but it was just a little too late.

Romulus' record dropped to 2-6 on the season, but since the Eagles probably the toughest schedule in the area, looks can be deceiving. For instance, the Eagles have already played state-ranked teams like Saginaw, Detroit Catholic Central and Willow Run, last year's Class B state champions.

And Wilkerson could only cringe a little when he looked at his next five games. After battling Ann Arbor Huron Tuesday night, Romulus was scheduled to tangle with Ann Arbor Pioneer on Friday night. Then in quick succession, Romulus meets Willow Run at the Silverdome in Pontiac on Thursday, Jan. 22 before hosting powerful Saginaw and Flint Northern.

"There's no doubt we play a high-powered schedule — but that's the way we like to play," said Wilkerson, who is in his first year as head coach. He replaced Rod Hanna, who resigned to take an assistant basketball coaching job at Wayne State University after building Romulus into a strong program the past several years.

Romulus was led in scoring against Mt. Clemens by Bob Stewart's 18 points. Troy Gray pumped in 17 and Jeff Barker had 10. Milton Conart topped the visitors with 14. Peter Cannon gunned in 11 and Robert Thompson added 10.

Wilkerson credited Troy Williams with a stellar defensive job against Conart, who had only eight points before scoring three late baskets. "Williams played super defense against Conart, who was averaging 19 points a game. Williams stayed on him all night and Conart had just eight points until there were three minutes left in the game and Conart got three late layups," Wilkerson said.

"We're progressing, playing much better defense as the season goes on. We're stressing man-to-man defense and are developing into a pretty good defensive club."

Troy Gray, who was injured early in the season, is coming along fast and helping Bob Stewart in carrying the scoring load. We have just about an 11 junior team, so we are really building for the future," Wilkerson explained.

be designated by the City. This provision shall not be deemed to prohibit promotional campaigns to stimulate individuals to connect to the CATV service.

SECTION 8.13 Notice of Interruption for Repairs. Whenever it is necessary to shut off or interrupt service for the purpose of making repairs, adjustments or installations, the Franchisee shall do so at such time as will cause the least amount of inconvenience to its customers. Unless such interruption is unforeseen and immediately necessary, it shall give reasonable notice thereof to all customers affected thereby.

SECTION 8.14 Local Office or Agent. The Franchisee shall share or maintain a local business office or agent for receiving, via a non-toll telephone call, inquiries or complaints regarding the quality of service, equipment malfunctions, billing disputes and similar matters. All complaints and inquiries will be investigated, responded to or acted upon as promptly as is practical, and unless circumstances otherwise require, within three business days of their receipt.

SECTION 8.15 Right of Privacy. The Franchisee will not monitor subscriber viewing without the consent of the subscriber in writing.

SECTION 8.16 Interconnections. The Franchisee shall interconnect its cable system with all contiguous Belleville cable systems and shall interconnect with all other systems or service. The Franchisee's system shall be designed and constructed so as to be capable of interconnection with any systems existing in municipalities contiguous to Belleville (and insofar as it is technically and economically feasible) with such systems anticipated for future construction; and the Franchisee shall make reasonable and diligent efforts to accomplish interconnection with such systems. However, nothing in this provision shall prohibit the charging to subscribers, on a time-used basis, of extra fees for cablecase channels received from noncontiguous systems.

SECTION 8.17 Severability. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of the Ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, persons, firm, partnership, association or corporation, legal entity or circumstance, shall be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or in error, said Judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, partnerships, associations or corporations, legal entities or circumstances, but said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance hereby directly involved in the case in controversy in which said Judgment shall have been rendered, and to the person, persons, firms, partnerships, association, corporation, legal entity or circumstance then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of this body that this Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not been included in the Ordinance.

SECTION 8.18 Ordinance Repealed. All prior ordinances or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 8.19 Violations and Penalties. A violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist or does in fact exist shall constitute a separate offense. Any person, firm or corporation who violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine not exceeding Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or ninety (90) days in jail, or both, in the discretion of the Court.

SECTION 8.20 Injunctive Relief. In addition to or in lieu of the penalties provided in Section 8.19 any continuing violation of this Ordinance may be enjoined by a Court of competent jurisdiction.

SECTION 8.21 Effective Date. This Ordinance is declared effective on January 16, 1981.

This Ordinance was duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Belleville at its regular meeting, called and held on the 5th day of January A.D., 1981, and was ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Flat Rock bombs Huron

Coach Gene Smith's junior-laden Chiefs ran into a buzzsaw Friday night as Flat Rock romped to an 84-53 Huron League triumph over New Boston Huron.

"Flat Rock is loaded with seniors this year and when they play like they did against us, they are the best in our league," Smith said. "And the interesting part is they scored 84 points but really didn't have a good shooting night. If they had been hitting, they could have passed the 100 point mark."

Tim Irwin, a 5-11 junior guard led Flat Rock with 21 points, Dave Suemnick, whose three brothers played for Huron a few years ago, pumped in 17 and Ted Campbell, the coach's son, added 15.

Huron's ballclub, which is comprised almost entirely of juniors, countered with 14 points from Larry

Martin, and 10 each from Mike Cady and Herman Staschke.

Huron has suffered severe cut-backs in its sports programs the past several years and does not have a junior varsity team or junior high sports. "It really puts us at a disadvantage, but the boys work hard and I'm proud of the way they hustle, despite the discouragements," Smith said. Smith added that many good athletes, like Dave Suemnick, leave the Huron district to play sports in junior high and on the junior varsity of other high schools.

Flat Rock raced to a 15-12 first period lead, extended it to 35-25 at intermission and rolled to a 60-39 third-quarter bulge before a 24-14 last period edge rounded out the scoring.

Flat Rock poured 49 points through the hoop in the last two periods in running its overall record to 4-2 and league slate to 2-2. Huron stands now at 0-4 in the league and 2-6 overall.

"Flat Rock is really much better than their record shows," Smith pointed out. Their two losses came when they had some starters out with sickness, and I think the outcome will be different the next time around."

Huron was scheduled to return to action Tuesday night against Riverview, a new member of the Huron League this year. Tecumseh dropped out and joined another conference. On Friday, Huron hosts Monroe Jefferson in a conference game that coach Smith hopes turns out favorably for the Chiefs.

Belleville wins Salem tourney

Making their first appearance at the Plymouth Salem Invitational Tournament, Belleville showed why they are considered one of the top Class A wrestling teams in the area this season.

Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers beat out Suburban 8 Conference rivals, Trenton and Plymouth Salem to earn the coveted team championship.

"It was an excellent way to start the New Year," said Malecek. "However, we have a lot of improving to do before we can say we're ready."

Record pace

Ex-Romulus High wrestler Darren Cline is zeroing in on the pin record at Ferris State College where he has amassed a 10-7 won-lost record, which includes nine victories via falls. The Bulldogs' record is 11 pins in a season. Cline helped Ferris post a 41-6 victory over Saginaw Valley State, pinning 6-9, 285-pound Chris Ruterbusch in 1:49. He also took all of 19 seconds to turn back Don Coon of Alma. Ferris defeated its rival, 39-7.
